THREE GIRLS DEAD, BOY HURT WHEN CAR COLLIDES WITH SUNNYLAND- SUNDAY P. M

Three Dexter high school girls are dead and their companion, Leland Hill, also of that city, is injured, following a collision Sunday evening at 6 o'clock of their Chevrolet sedan with the crack Frisco passenger train. The accident happened about three and one-half miles north of Sikeston on the Tanner road, approximatedy 500 yards west of Highway 61.

The dead:
Louise Wyatt, 17
Glenda Wyatt, 15
Georgia Mae Howell, 17

According to Leland Hill, 18 years old, driver of the ill fated car, the young people had spent the day with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutcheson of Tanner. In the afternoon they drove to Sikeston, and were on their return trip when the acident happened. The exact time of the accident has been set at 5:58 p. m.

Hill was able to come to Sikeston after the collision, and returned to the scene after notifying H. J. Welsh to bring his ambulance. He was very nervous, but was not seriously injured. He stated to bystanders that the party had been "cutting up" and that none of the occupants saw the oncoming train until the engine had crossed the cattle bars at the Tanner road crossing. Then instead of hitting the brake, his foot slipped on the gas pedal. He believes that the auto struck the rear driver of the Sunnyland engine.

The bodies were brought to the Welsh undertaking parlor, where a coroner's jury, summoned late Sunday evening, viewed the remains. Coroner George Dempster summoned the following: Paul Rankin, George Lough, Clyde Myers, Sam Bowman Robert Mitchell and Marshall Cox. A verdict was not returned until Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Hill, Mr. and Mrs. George Howell, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wyatt, parents of the wrecked victims, arrived here about 7:30 Sunday evening, and suggested that the bodies be removed to their homes at once. C. O. Biggs, Dexter undertaker, took charge. Funeral arrangements could not be learned Monday morning.

The Wyatt girls were to have been graduated from high school this spring, according to friends who streamed into the Welsh place from 6:30 until late that night, and Miss Howell, it was learned, was the only daughter of her parents.

Hill was induced to go to the Emergency Hospital after he had arranged to have the girls brought to Sikeston. He was under the care of Dr. H. M. Kendig, Frisco physician, who stated that his condition was not serious.

Mr. Welsh estimated the crowd of morbidly curious and interested folks who visited the wrecked scene and the undertaking parlor at more than one thousand. They congregated in front of the place, crowded the rooms and finally had to be invited to leave by Sheriff Tom Scott to make room for relatives of the victims.

A Standard representative who visited the scene of the accident late Sunday night and interviewed negroes living nearby found Ed Washington and wife of the opinion that the car did not reach the crossing itself. The colored folks were sitting on their front porch and noticed the approaching car and train. Since their modest cottage is located on the West side of the track. the train hid the actual collision.

Frank Betton and Ernest Henton, also colored, were seated on their front porch, located some 300 feet southwest of the wreck scene and saw the affair. Both stated that the car was close to the crossing when last seen, and that the "train blew for the crossing". Jesse Hogans and another negro known as Gordon, arrived at the scene of the accident about three minutes after it happenend. Hill, they stated, was unconscious at the time, but he revived soon.

At one time 110 cars were crowded about the wreck scene late Sunday night. The twisted wreckage was piled against the south cattle guard fence, but bits of the car were hurled as much as 100 yards down the righ-of-way. The motor block had been torn loose by the impact and was found about 15 yards from the chassis. The radiator, a bit of twisted copper, was found 100 feet south of the wreck proper, against the east right-of-way fence. Only one tire was punctured and all four remained on their respective rims. By morning, souvenir seekers had carried off nearly all loose parts of the wreckage, leaving the stripped down chassis jammed against the fence.

The Welsh ambulance responded to a call and arrived at the scene a few minutes after it happened. Bodies of the three girls were found nearly nude about 35 or 40 feet south of the wreck having been hurled over the cattle guards. According to H. J. Welsh, undertaker, the bodies were not severely mutilated, but all were bruised. All three victims landed in a small triangular plot which was staked or marked for the benefit of a possible coroner's inquest.

It was decided Monday morning to defer the inquest until Thursday morning in view of the highly nervous condition of young Hill.

THE GUN WASN'T LOADED BUT TWO ARE INJURED

Vance Montgomery was showing his unloaded 'baby model" .25 caliber revolver to Fred Boyer and bystanders at the Boyer garage Sunday night about 9 o'clock. After due respects had been paid to the baby model, Montgomery jammed the gun into his right trousers pocket and accidently snapped the trigger. The bullet glanced upwards from the pavement and nicked Fred Boyer's leg.

After Fred had been taken care of, Vance being much concerned of course, blood was found oozing out of Montgomery's shoe. The bullet had penetrated his right foot an inch back of the second toe. Dr. Presnell treated the wounds.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET AT DEXTER APRIL 18TH

A meeting of the Democratic central committes of the five counties comprising this Senatorial district has been called to meet at Dexter next Friday afternoon, April 18th at 2:00 p. m.

Besides the county committees that are requested to be present, all Democratic county officers and all other interested Democrats of all the counties in the district are invited to attend.

The meeting will be held in the Week's Theatre and several speakers will be present.

The following drove to Arlington Ky. Sunday to attend the funeral of Robert Lillard, who died suddenly at his country home Friday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. John L. Tanner, Miss Myra Tanner, Mrs. A. C. Barrett, Dr. and Mrs. Handy L. Smith, Lynn Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ranney Applegate, and daughter, Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Roth and children, Mrs. L. O. Rodes and Betty Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Horne and children, G. B. Greer, Mrs. Jennie Sikes, W. H. Sikes, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Matthews, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Matthews, III., Mr. and Mrs. Moore Greer and children, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Applegate and daughter, Lillian Gale, Mrs. Anna Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cunningham, Dr. and Mrs. Stokes of Mayfield, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay E. Brown of Charleston. On account of Mr. and Mrs. Lillard's son, Reese, not being able to arrive home until today (Monday), the funeral was held Monday.

Pat Davis is the first to report killing a snake. Last week while working in the Chamber of Commerce Addition, he saw and killed a dry land moccasin about 14 inches long.

Mrs. Ruth Schaffery of 424 North Street is anxious to find work to do in some home. Is in good health and willing. Has 16 months old babe. If you can use she and the babe, call at above address or at this office.

Today closes the first half of the month of April. To date finer weather could not be had. The saving of fuel has been no little item, gardens generally are looking fine. Around town flower beds are being set out and everybody is busy.

A light shower fell in the Sikeston vicinity early Monday morning. Southeast Missouri needs a good rain at this time as it has been weeks since any rain has fallen. Some fields are rough and clods will have to have rain before fields can be put in order for planting.

Quite a lot of corn has been planted in this section and one field south of Commerce shows the corn up to a good stand. More plowing and planting in bottom lands than for many years. Prospects are that the largest acreage for years will be planted in this part of Southeast Missouri.

SETLECED TEACHERS FOR FAIRVIEW SCHOOL BOARD

The teachers for the 1930-31 school year have been selected by the School Board of the Fairview School south of Sikeston.

Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Rozella Taylor of Sikeston will guide the children in their studies.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Roger Bailey.

We hope the young folks who had our picture hung in the basement of the Methodist Church Friday evening during their carnival, enjoyed the occasion and the exhibit drew its share of the pennies. We also trust they observed the subject had a kindly eye and looked with understanding on them.

We understand some comments and criticism is going the rounds from the fact the bodies of the three young women who were killed at the crossing above the city Sunday evening, were gathered up and brought to an undertaker's room before they were viewed by the coroner. If this is true it is unfortunate and too bad. There was no doubt as to the cause of the deaths and to leave these bodies, almost nude, to the gaze of the morbid, and to flies and insects, is unthinkable. The sooner they were prepared for burial the better. To appreciate the situation, suppose it was your own daughters.

The fact that the editor carried a large patch on his right cheek was no sign that he got it when he turned the other cheek. A small boil is the cause.

Let your conscience be your guide as to whether you attend church on Sunday, go fishing, play golf, shoot craps or work your flower beds. It used to be that one was sure to go to hell if they did not attend church in the forenoon, read the Bible in the afternoon and sing church hymns, but in these days and times everything is done except the old fashioned way of practical observance of Sunday.

G. W. Chapman, an aged preacher, who has been ill since last October, was a visitor at The Standard office Friday afternoon. We were glad to have had the visit from him. His is one of the sad cases that come to many preachers and school teachers who have followed their calling until old age and illness have compelled them to retire. No preacher or teacher is ever able to lay aside anything for a rainy day and many of them are deprived of the necessities of life before God calls them. What a wonderful thing it would be if some of our multimillionaires like Henry Ford, who is accredited with making a net profit of over $80,000,000 last year, would endow an institution or a fund to pension these old folks who have done so much to enlighten the world. Wish God Almighty could soften their heart in this direction.

JIMMIE EDMONDSON IN CRITICAL CONDITION AFTER MOTORCYCLE CRACKUP SUN.

Friends here were notified Sunday evening that Jimmie Edmondson, 26, was in a critical condition in a Crystal City hospital, following a smash-up about 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning near a highway intersection near that place.

Virgil Harness personal friend of Edmondson had not been able to get much information regarding the accident. However, he stated that Edmondson and wife had gone to St. Louis Saturday morning to visit. Evidently they started their return journey early Sunday morning to avoid the usual heavy Sunday city traffic. Harness is of the opinion that the accident ocurred at the Frisco overpass, near which is located the intersection of the Festus-Crystal City road and Highway 61. Information available now states that young Edmondson smashed into an automobile.

Harness learned that his friend suffered a broken left leg, broken arm and hand, and that one eye was probably knocked out. Mrs. Edmondson escaped with severe body bruises and minor cuts.

Harness advanced the opinion that Edmondson was trying to break his (Harnesses') record of 2 hours and 54 minutes from St. Louis to Sikeston. The Harley-Davidson machine driven by Edmondson was rated with a top speed of 85 miles per hour, and the driver is credited with plenty of nerve to attempt a new record.

J. P. Gilbert, insurance salesman, stated to The Standard Monday morning that Edmondson had dropped an insurance policy covering an accident such as the one experienced Sunday morning last April 1. Edmondson refused to renew his policy, Gilbert stated.

2 SEMO BOYS WIN HONORS IN STUDENT ELECTION AT MISSOURI UNIVERSITY

James Finch of Cape Girardeau was elected president of the student body at Missouri University, Columbia, by a majority of 1050 votes in an election held last Friday. The vote stood 1852 for Finch and 802 for George Buchholz. The Junior Finch is the son of James A. Finch, well known Cape Girardeau attorney.

Dave Blanton of this city defeated Clyde Scott by a vote of 130 to 45 for the position of Councilman in the school of Business and Public Administration.

Finch and Blanton were two candidates to win their races by landslide majorities. Several other schools on the campus are more or less troubled over their elections. In the Journalism school, for instance, Jas. McAtee of Clayton and Ed McLaughlin of Joplin, are still wondering about the outcome of their race for the presidencey of the school. McLaughlin was first declared winner, 134 to 130, but a recount gave McAtee the honored position by two votes. A protest has been filed.

The vice-presidency of the same school was decided by one vote. Frances Corry was defeated 132 to 131 by Eloise Scherer of Kansas City.

COTTON PICKERS' ORCHESTRA COMING TO CAIRO APRIL 23 'J. S." STEAMER DE LUXE

The Famus Cotton Pickers Orchestra, under the direction of Fate Marable, the wizard of the ivories, will play the musical program in the Venetan Ball Room of the J. S. Steamer De Luxe on its Spring cruise north. This musical combination of artists play all of the latest dance music in the rhythm enjoyed by dancers and audiences as well, which has won for them the title "The South's Greatest Orchestra". They enjoy the reputation of having played ten consecutive Winters at New Orleans aboard Streckfus Steamers, five consecutive Summer engagements at St Louis, and six consecutive Cruises North and South on the Mississippi River from New Orleans to St. Paul, Minn. It was they who played that wonderful music aboard the J. S. Steamer De Luxe last Fall when she made her initial cruise South, and now they are coming again aboard this steamer, whose gay-colored lanterns, flower baskets, canopied ceilings, fountain, gorgeous floor coverings, wicker furniture and steamer chairs, make you feel the strains of their sweet music more than ever The steamer has been chartered by the Cairo Elks Lodge No. 651 for a moonlight excursion, Wednesday April 23, and hope that everyone who possibly can will join them and enjoy the pleasures, (let us say luxuries) which this Steamer offers. Be at Cairo on Wednesday, April 23rd at 8:30 p. m. for a good time.

Elsewhere in The Standard is printed an article from the pen of former Governor Patterson of Tennessee, that is beautifully written and should be read and studied. We read it in the quiet of our home with the Indian Love Song from Rose Marie coming over the radio and with two of our small granddaughters playing about. We were entranced, happy and contented. When you read this article, you, too, will have a like feeling, and will wonder why some people get so little out of life. Thoughts dressed in beautiful words can find a lodging place in the heart of most men and women.

It will be but a few short weeks until our High School Graduates will go forth to conquer the world. Let us hope each and every one of them will climb the ladder of success and make useful citizens. The road will probably be rough at times and the ladder wobbly, it is then that the real metal will be tested. Boys and girls should look about and make note of those most successful in life and who stand high as men and women, and try to follow their footstep. The Standard wishes every one of them the best possible in life.

The last run of The Standard for the past several weeks has been unable to carry all the live news stories and advertising that has been in type, and as one or the other had to be left over, the reading matter was left. We are doing our very best to get all the advertising possible and give all the news possible.

Most ever man who, outwardly and figureatively, are outstanding citizens, would hate like sin to have his wife placed on the stand and under oath state just everything she knows about the other side of the worser half.

The warm days of April have caused us old timers a mess of worry. Our long ones are too warm and we haven't the price of the thin ones. Guess we can go without.

Most of us do things and give money according to the standard set by someone of our acquaintance When a paper is passed around among merchants for some public subscription, it is always looked over and the amount given by others is the index by which we all make our donation. If So and So gave five dollars, we feel that we will look cheap if we don't give that much or maybe a little more. We mow our yard when we notice that neighbors have, so that we won't suffer by contrast. We like to think ourselves independent, but most of us follow the lead of someone else.—Shelbina Democrat.

Chaffee is without a city attorney for the reason that neither of the candidates, W. L. Oliver nor E. M Munger, had been a citizen of that city for one year as required by their ordinances. Oliver received a majority of 48 over Munger in their city election.

The prohibition poll of fourteen of the leading colleges and universities of the country does not give much succor to the drys. In the poll the student bodies of Princeton, the old Presbyterian institution, and Harvard, one of the oldest and foremost educational institutions in the land were included. The vote showed 4,515 for strict enforcement, 11,006 for modification, and 5559 for repeal.

It goes without saying that the editor knows very littlle about the general sentiment on prohibition. However, we will say that the drys, like we Al Smith Democrats did in 1928, are trying to convince the public that the poll of the Literary Digest means nothing. The public has been fully informed that the present poll is being conducted on exactly the same plan as was the poll in 1928. Regardless of whether or not one voter may have received two or three ballots, his vote on the general proposition has been counted but once Several professional men claim to have received two or three ballots The first sent out was for the general referendum, and the only one counted in the results of the poll now being printed. The second and third ballots were sent out to poll professional and business men, and these results will be published later. There is no use to beat the devil around the stump, the country opposes the present prohibition law as now in effect. The people have never expressed their vews through an unbiased referendum, and anyone who claims the contrary is misinformed. The election of Hoover was considered a dry victory, yet some of the wettest soaks we know, and many bootleggers, cast their votes for him. We have noted Republican dry women voting the ticket straight when the few drys on their ticket were the exception, and Democratic drys falling for the hypocracy.—Jackson Cash Book.

FIFTY MILLION FOR U. S. HIGHWAYS

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, today apportioned among the 48 States and Hawaii the sum of $48,750,000 of the additional $50,000,000 authorized by Congress as Federal aid for highway construction in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1930. This supplementary appropriation for Federal-aid highways was authorized by the bill signed by President Hooer on April 4, which also authorized the appropriation of $125,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1932 and 1933.

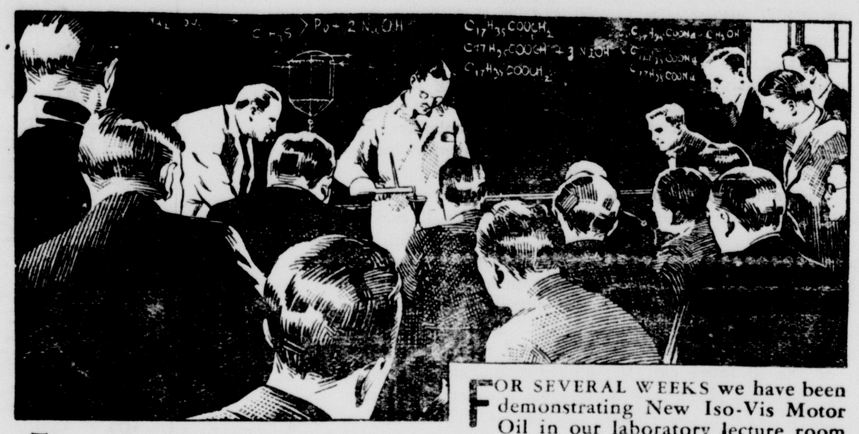

The additional $50,000,000 brings the authorized appropriation for 1931 to $125,000,000. Congress provided $75,000000 by a previous act, and Secretary Hyde apportioned this among the States and Hawaii on December 2, 1929.

Missouri's original authorization of the $75,000,000 Federal Aid apportionment was $2,382,383. To this was added $1,588,255 in the present apportionment.

All apportionments of Federal funds for highways in the Federal-aid system are based on the area population and post road mileage of the States, and the share of each State is available for expenditure on roads included in the Federal-aid system under the joint supervision of the State Highway Departments and the Bureau of Public Roads of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Apportionment of the 1932 authorization will be made on or before January 1, 1931, and of the 1933 authorization on or before January 1, 1932.

THIS class-room picture shows the demonstration which proves definitely that New Iso-Vis does not "break down" in the automobile crankcase.

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS we have been demonstrating New Iso-Vis Motor Oil in our laboratory lecture room to groups of engineers and others. One of the experiments made is this:

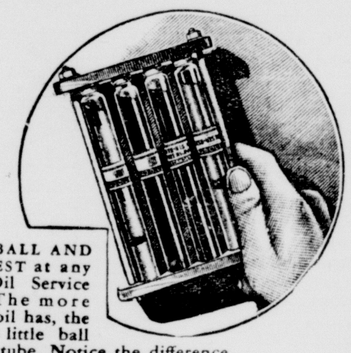

A quart of "used" Iso-Vis oil that has gone hundreds of miles in the crankcase of a car—is strained through a special filter.

In goes the used oil, black with road dust and crankcase dirt . . .

And then our audience generally gets to its feet in astonishment. For out of the filter comes a quart of oil that is exactly the same as if it had come from the refinery. Not just the same clear amber color but the same heavy body, the same oiliness, the same lubricating quality!

Before their eyes is the unmistakable, dramatic proof that New Iso-Vis Motor Oil does not "thin out" or break down. However, it must be changed at reasonable intervals to get rid of the dirt it accumulates in the crankcase.

Try New Iso-Vis today. You can get it at any Standard Oil dealer or service station.

SEE THE BALL AND BOTTLE TEST at any Standard Oil Service Station. The more "body" an oil has, the slower the little ball falls in the tube. Notice the difference between used Iso-Vis and any other oil drained from the crankcase. Iso-Vis does not thin out in your motor.

New ISO-VIS 30¢ a quart Motor Oil

New Polarine is also affected by our new refining processes—giving it an efficiency which is exceeded only by New Iso-Vis. The price is 25 cents a quart.

There is one sure way to get greater value in a low-priced car today—choose a Six!

This greater value is instantly obvious when you drive a Chevrolet Six. You notice first of all its greater smoothness. There is no tremor in the steering wheel—no rattle in the floor boards—no drumming in the body.

In addition to the finer performance of its six-cylinder motor, the new Chevrolet gives you truly remarkable economy.

Its six-cylinder smoothness saves the entire car from the strain and wear of vibration. This, of course, lowers the cost of maintenance and assures a longer-lasting automobile.

From the standpoint of operating expense, Chevrolet is equally economical. No automobile uses less gasoline and oil. No car shows a lower expense for tires. And no car costs less for service.

Because of its modern engineering, Chevrolet also assures a high re-sale value—for its entire design is just as advanced as its six-cylinder engine.

Chevrolet gives you fully-enclosed, weather-proof, 4-wheel brakes. It gives you a modern fuel system—with the gasoline tank mounted in the rear outside the body. It gives you four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted lengthwise in the direction of car travel. It gives you beautiful Fisher bodies built of combination hardwood-and-steel. It gives you a full ball bearing steering mechanism, an adjustable driver's seat, a Fisher VV non-glare windshield, and tilting beam headlights, operated by a foot-controlled button.

Before you decide on any car in the low-price field, see and drive the Chevrolet Six. The more thoroughly you investigate, the more certain you are to conclude that it's wise to choose a Six—for value, for performance and for economical transportation!

TAME TURKEYS RELEASED IN WOODS SOON GET WILD

Many people have often wondered "Why is the wild cat wild?" These same people no doubt will wonder why a tame turkey goes wild. During the last few weeks a number of tame turkey hens have been released in various portions of Howell county by sportsmen who want to see the game preserved in this section. The tame turkey hens soon find mates among the wild gobblers in the woods and it won't be long until they are as wild as the wildest of turkeys. The young turkeys hatched from the eggs these hens lay in the woods have all the wildness of the wild birds flying from the roost when disturbed. This will do much to restock the wild turkey in this part of the State.—West Plains Gazette.

LASLEY SEEKS RELEASE FROM 10-YEAR TERM

Coy Lasley, former Frisco railroad brakeman of Chaffee, who is serving a 10-year term in State prison for complicity in the slaying of B. M Hargett, a non-union rail worker at Chaffee in 1927, has asked for a parole and his case will come up at Jefferson City next Monday.

Lasley pleaded guilty in circuit court at Jackson and was sentneced to serve 10 years from December 27, 1928. Previously he had been placed on trial, but the testimony was halted when Lasley collapsed and physicians said he could not proceed further. He entered a plea of guilty to a second degree charge.

Lasley was the second man to be sent to prison in the slaying of Harett. R. H. Stogsdill, former Frisco detective, is now in the penitentiary serving a 43-year term imposed by a jury which convicted him of the slaying. A third man, indcted in the murder, was George Fowler. He was released, after testifyng for the State against Stogsdill and Lasley.—Cape Missourian.

This one comes from West Africa: A minister announced that on the following Sunday he would preach on "Liars", and requested all his flock to read the 17th chapter of Mark in the meantime. The next Sunday he asked all who had read the chapter to raise their hands, and about half the congregation did so. "You are the ones I will preach to", he said. "There is no 17th chapter of Mark".

France is building one of the finest automobile roads in the world. The gigantic project, linking Paris with the Italian frontier, viea the Riveria, will be completed within four months. This fine highway will have additions of a new Cannes-Nice section and a section from Monte Carlo to the border. The 21-mile stretch between Cannes and Nice involves an outlay of 50,000,000 francs. Measuring 35 yards in width, the route will have space for six vehicles running abreast, a path of syclists, three sidewalks and a bridle path.

The highway department is anxious to let contracts for the new highway to run from Morley, Oran, Chaffee to No. 25 below Dutchtown, and found it necessary that some land be condemned. The Scott County Court is providing its share of the needed money and in order that that section of our county be provided with a good road an agreement was reached Saturday whereby the Cape road district will guarantee $1100, the county $1,500 and Byrd township $300 on a probable cost of $3100, as the Delta district has no funds. It may be considerable less. This township is willing to share in the cost because of the benefits accruing from getting another straight route from the lower counties to the north and this traffic going through Jackson.—Jackson Post.

KEEPING FIT with NANCY CARROLL

by NANCY CARROLL
Paramount Star

I SUPPOSE a lot of women who are joining me in the Nancy Carroll Thirty Day Diet are wondering just what results to expect. If you are faithful in following the diet and the exercises you should lose four pounds the first week.

During the second week you should lose four pounds more. You see, after the first two weeks of the diet which have the most drastic cut in calories, I gradually build up the caloric content so that the weight reduction can come more normally.

The third week of the diet you should lose only three pounds, and the fourth week you should lose only two pounds. In all, if you follow it rigorously, and exercise every day, you will lose about thirteen pounds. Some of you may lose ten pounds and others fifteen pounds. This of course is a lot of weight, but the beauty of my diet is that if you want to repeat it in order to reduce even more, you can do so because it leaves you strong and well able to undertake it again. In the rapid reduction diets such as the Hollywood 18 Day Diet which some of my Hollywood friends followed, most of them were so tired and so "all-in" during and after the diet period that I really felt sorry for them. And no diet should be taken without a doctor's approval.

Many of you are surprised, I guess, at the fact that I include candy and sweets in my diet. I have a real, scientific reason for it. Candy is a quick energy builder. In a reducing regime which cuts down on calories and involves regular exercising, it is easy to become fatigued and listless unless the body is given some fuel to pep it up. I find that candy does this the best. It is a fuel food, and a little of it eaten daily takes away that gnawing emptiness and "all-gone" feeling.

For the rest of this first week, do Exercise One and add Exercise Two. Here it is:

First place your broomstick wand at the back of the neck, holding it in both hands, with arms extended. Bend forward from the waist with the head back, keeping the knees together. Then return to an upright position. The count is one, bend; two, upright. And work at it!

Next time I'll give you a really hard exercise that is awfully good for a fat "tummy."

KIDDIES WHOSE 12TH BIRTHDAY FALLS IN '30 TO GET FREE CAMERA

Rochester, N. Y., April 6.—"The world's biggest birthday party", celebrated by the gift of half a million cameras to children 12 years old, will commemorate next month the fiftieth anniversary of the first photographic patent awarded to George Eastman whose work did so much to transform amateur photography from a cumbersome process to the simplicity that marks it today.

The cameras, each accompanied by a roll of film, will be given away by the Eastman Kodak Company of which Eastman is chairman of the Board of Directors. Any child whose twelfth birthday falls in 1930 will be eligible to receive a camera by applying to local photographic dealers in company with a parent or guardian.

The distribution of cameras throughout the country will begin May 1 and continue until June 1, if the 500,000 cameras have not all been given away before the end of the month. A further number will be distributed to children in Canada.

The cameras are of the box type finished in a golden tan in recognition of the golden anniversary. Each bears a gilt medallion, with the inscription "Fiftieth Anniversary of kodad, 1880-1930". The cameras take pictures 2¼x3¼ inches in size.

Three villages in the Savoie Valley, near Lyons, France, were plunged into darkness when an eagle flew into the overhead electric cables which serve the district with power. Workmen spent a whole night trying to locate the cause of the breakdown and in the morning found the bird electrocuted just outside the village of Longefroy, which, with Tessens and Macot, had been without power.

CO. K YEARLY PAYROLL AMOUNTS TO NEARLY $13,000

Members of Company K are anxiously looking forward to the arrival of the quarterly payroll, which should be on hand for distribution at the regular drill period next Tuesday night. Although not generally know the yearly income of the members represents a tidy sum each year, enough, in fact to make a Guard Unit quite an asset to any town. The expenditures of the local company for the past year, including salaries and equipment for the Armory, has been quite a bit in excess of thirteen thousand dollars, according to figures compiled by Instructor E. T. Wheatley and Capt. Rufus Reed.

The inter-battalion and regimental small bore rifle competition will be started within the next week or two among the various companies in the regiment but will include competition betwen the three battalions. as well It is expected that much interest will be manifested in the competition this year as many of the companies who have heretofore ranked very low are expected to come through and liven things up for the companies who have carried off the honors in previous years.

The competition last year resulted in a victory for Company I of Doniphan in the 140th Infantry. This Company is commanded by Capt. H D. Sheppard and is in the Third Battalion, which is commanded by Maj. Harry E. Dudley of Sikeston.

The so-called Indian-head pennies have been in circulation so long and such enormous numbers of them have been coined that it is not probable that they will be worth more than their face value for a long time to come.

No British king or queen as such has ever visited the United States. King Edward VII, while Prince of Wales, visited this country in 1860. So far as we are able to learn he was the only British sovereign who ever saw the United States. Possibly however, the present king, Gorge V, touched at American ports while he was a midshipman in the North Atlantic squadron of the Britsh fleet. The present Prince of Wales has visited this country.

A great deal of interest has been manifested in a breed of wingless and clawless chickens which is being developed by a doctor of Omaha, Neb. This experimenter started several years ago with a hen which was regarded as a freak because of the diminutive size of her wings and the almost total absence of claws. From this bird the doctor had raised several generations, with the result that the wings and claws have almost disappeared. The advantages of this is that the birds do not fly over the fence and they do not dig up the garden in their search for food and at the same time they show a tendency to become better egg producers.

MADRID FARMERS HEAR FUQUA ON LIVESTOCK MARKETING

A group of New Madrid County farmers met April 3 at New Madrid for the purpose of discussing marketing of livestock. The meeting was called by County Agent Scott M. Julian, and the group was addresed by W. W. Fuqua, representing the Producers Livestock Shipping Association of St. Louis, and Robert Brown, President, Missouri Farm Bureau Federation.

Mr. Fuqua took up the question of marketing livestock, and after his address here, he went to a meeting at Parma, where he addressed a group of 100 farmers on the same subject.

Mr. Brown told of the work of the State Farm Bureau Federation and explained the rapid progress that they had made in the past few years together with the things that they have been accomplishing.

Snagging bait-stealing fish the minute they strike is the purpose of an automatic hook setter that may be attached to a pole or reel. The line runs through the hook setter and the least tug on the bait trips a trigger, causing a leever to fly back with sufficient pull to set the hook.

Medical science has prevented the population of French Equatorical Africa from being wiped out by sleeping sickness, it was asserted in an interview by Raphael Antonetti, governor general of the colony, who is now in Paris. Although the birth rate was satisfactory, he explained, the population continued to diminish through disease which caused more deaths than there were births. This went on until 1921 when the French officials recognized the peril and took energetic action against sleeping sickness and all tropical infections.

EASTER WITH THE MAJESTIC ENTERTAINERS

Easter, a day sacred to the hearts of the whole world, is the theme around which has been built the unique program that will be presented by the Majestic entertainers over the International Network of the Columbia broadcasting system on Easter Sunday, April 20th, from 9:00 to 10 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The orchestra score for the presentation has been prepared by Arnold Johnson, Musical Directors of the Majestic Orchestra, who conducts his famous ensemble of instrumental soloists as a feature attraction on all Majestic broadcasts. Mr. Johnson from his vast experience, has written a musical setting which will serve as background for the vocal selections of Redferne Hollinshead, exclusive Majestic Tenor, Grace La Mar, Contralto, and the Majestic Male Quartet.

Miss La Mar, Contraltor, who makes her third appearance on Majestic programs with this Easter presentation, will be heard in a group of songs. Miss La Mar possesses a voice of pleasing quality and her solos reflect the poise attained through years of study under the masted vocal teachers of Europe.

Redferne Hollinshead, exclusive Majestic Tenor, will offer as his contribution to the program the tenor solo "The Light of Life" from Rhys-Herbert's oratorio "Bethany". In addition, he will sing one of the best loved of all th Easter compositions "Hosanna".

To make the hour complete, the Majeste Male Quartet will blend their harmonies in typical Easter music that will embrace the compositions appropriate to this season of the year as well as some of the lighter songs of the current day.

THE INSURANCE ORGANIZATIONS

HOME OWNER NEEDS INSURANCE SERVICE

The Owner Is Safeguarded Until Obligations Are Met

The home owner who is interested in modernizing his house will find a varied number of institutions waiting to aid him in solving his problems.

Not only the lumber companies, the plumbing shops, the interior decorators establishments and the electrical supply houses, but also the insurance organizations have a service they can render. Usually the insurance companies are not considered as being interested in the Home Modernizing Movement but nevertheless they have a definite place in the program.

Guard Against Fire

The increased value of the property due to the modernizing of the home makes an increase in the amount of insurance placed on the dwelling necessary. Insurance is protection and the wise owner is going to make certain that his investment is adequately covered against fire.

The thoughtful owner carries plenty of fire insurance not only on the building itself but also on the household goods within.

Life Insurance Important

Life insurance is another form of protection that is rarely considered when modernizing, yet it plays a very important part in financing the improvements.

Since the owner of the property when making a loan to cover the cost of modernizing assumes additional responsibilities, it is wise to make certain that the loan will be paid in event of his death. Life insurance may be secured which upon the death of the property owner will be applied on the outstanding loan.

Such a provision as this makes certain that the financing of the property is assured. Although death may claim the owner, the property immediately becomes free and unincumbered by obligations.

Various types of policies are available and full details will always be carefully explained by local insurance agents who are experienced in writing policies of this sort.

Loan Features

Many insurance organizations are permitted by law to acquire real estate mortgages. In this way they enable the home owner to finance a loan on his property. They are in fact another source of money in addition to the banks or building and loan associations which are often called on for loans for improving real estate.

Color Invades The Kitchen

Nowadays the kitchen is becoming one of the most cheerful rooms of the house. Color has been introduced to liven the floors, the walls and the gas ranges.

Usually the kitchen was the somber, tired looking room of work. The living room, bedroom and dining room were all cheerfully decked out but the kitchen remained drab and uninteresting.

Now color has been introduced. Kitchen ranges are decorated in gay, vivid colors. Reds and green form the basis of color schemes that are carried through the room. The walls may be tinted in harmony and linoleum chosen to meet the motif.

Linoleum is fast becoming the favorite floor covering for the kitchen. It is sanitary, being armed with a dirt resisting lacquer which prevents dust and grease from taking permanent lodging. It can be easily cleaned and tiresome scrubbing is eliminated through its use.

Then, too, it is colorful, being made in a wide variety of patterns that enable the tasteful housewife to plan a decorative design for the kitchen that will meet the most artistic eye.

Steel Medicine Cabinets Are Most Sanitary

Medicine cabinets of steel are often preferred in the bathroom because of their advantages from the standpoint of sanitation.

They can be easily and quickly cleaned should any of the contents of bottles spill on the shelves.

The steel frame of the door makes a solid support for the mirror which may be of beveled plate glass.

Usually these steel cabinets are finished in white enamel as white is the universal color for bathroom trim.

Serve all lamb dishes piping hot on very hot plates. The texture of lamb fat is not always agreeable after the meat has cooled off somewhat.

The success of the sweet-potato crop depends largely on the vigor with which the plants start growth after being set in the field. Successful growers set their plants after the growth, either immediately before a rain or as soon after as the soil can be worked.

Window And Door Screens Of Copper Are Rust Pr

When remodeling the house it will as the repair bills on screens often be necessary to make or purchase new screens to guard against few and far between.

Many home-owners insist that these screens shall be made of copper or bronze with either wood or steel frames.

Copper and bronze screens are rust-proof. They are long-lived and will last many seasons without attention. This is a distinct advantage

Ordinary wire screens rust quickly shatter. Each spring have to be replaced and often fall holes develop here nad there the surface. Copper screen tirely eliminate this trouble.

When choosing screens make tain that the mesh is fine enou prevent entrance of insects y such texture that it will not and hold dust.

Milk is splendid to mix with the mash when wet-mash feeding is preferred.

ERVE MODERN HOME MOVEMENT

lade Into Modern Home

d houses like these are a drain on the pocket book of the owner. They stand neglected and deserted, an expense and loss. After this house was remodeled it was again photograph-ed and is shown above.

vic pride should spur each of us to try and make our home and our yard as attractive as that of our neighbor. Paint and flowers should not be overlooked.

HOME MODERNIZED THEN QUICKLY RENTED

Those old houses that stand idle month after month are losing money for someone. The old house in the lower illustration was just such a case. Not only was it a drain on the owner's pocketbook, but also an eyesore in the neighborhood.

Old property like this is hard to rent. No one wants to move into a decayed looking dwelling no matter how sound the timbers or well constructed the frame. So the old places go begging or are rented at figures that represent losses rather than profits.

Now Make Profits

But in this case the owner was wise. He recognized his handicap, invested a little money in reconstruction and had a modern up-to-date dwelling as the result—a profit-maker and a credit to his acumen.

The old porch which ran around two sides was torn away when the improvements were started. It was ugly, dilapidated and a dust catcher. Instead, a small stoop was built for the entrance from the street, a shingle covered shelter protecting the entrance from occasional storms.

A Sun Room Added

A charming sun room now occupies the place once devoted to the porch. The roof lines over this section have been changed to the advantage of the structure.

Many of the window openings have been enlarged and a pair of sash inserted in these openings. The upper sash of each pair are made with small lights, a style popular at present among builders.

The old tin roof which covered the house was removed and vari-colored asbestos shingles used to protect the occupants from storms and fire. Asbestos shingles are meeting with favor among many builders because of their durability, attractive coloring and fire preventative qualities.

The mansard roof affects have been eliminated at each end of the roof by forming gables. Small ventilators with horizontal louvres in these gables thoroughly air the attic.

Few Interior Changes

In general the rooms within the structure remain as originally designed. The sun parlor was added, taking the place of one end of the sprawling porch. A friendly fireplace now adds a cheerful note of hospitality to the large living room.

An oblong kitchen is considered preferable to a square one for saving space and consequently for saving steps. On the two long opposite sides most of the larger equipment can be grouped in logical working sequence. To test for waste space in a floor plan see whether the equipment can be packed into a smaller well-lighted area in the same relative positions, leaving room enough to work comfortably.

The value of good pasture for hogs cannot be overestimated. Rye, oats wheat, rape, soybeans, and cowpeas all are good temporary pastures. Sweet clover and, in the South, Dallas grass also are satisfactory. Rape may be sown with oats in the spring. Cowpeas and soybeans make a good mixture. Seeding for temporary pastures should be heavier than for a grain crop. Many successful hog growers put a limited number of hogs on permanent pastures, and let the grass make sufficient growth to produce a crop of hay. Undoubtedly alfalfa is the best permanent pasture grass for hogs, and in localities where this crop is successful no other permanent pasture is necessary.

The editor cast a little bread upon the water Friday afternoon and when he reached home, he found that it had returned at least ten fold. A friend had sent to us, express prepaid, a box containing a wonderful assortment of good things to eat consisting of canned fruits and vegetables, tea and coffee, cocoa, olives and mushrooms. Our heart is full of thanks for this splendid gift and we couldn't help but say to the family that the little bit that we gave to a worthy friend had come back ten fold and within a few hours. The impulse to give and to receive comes from On High for which we are thankful.

There are still a lot of people, including nearly all the preachers, who refer to that London gathering as the peace conference. To begin with it has not been very peaceable. Worse still, it has created a beligerent feeling among the citizens of rival nations. To end with, its sole purpose has been to make war cheaper, not to enter into peace pacts. There probably will be an agreement to cut down on war ship construction whereupon the building of air fleets and poison gas machines will go to limits heretofore undreamed of. The World Court and League of Nations offer open roads to the peaceful settlement of international disputes Because Woodrow Wilson was their father the party in power refuses to join them, so the next best thing is to keep on recognizing war as a permanent institution and seek ways for waging it at bargain counter rates.—Paris Appeal.

The Standard proposes to cut out a lot of the farm dope sent to us from Washington, from Columbia and from every other farm bug who has a message for the farmer. The reason is: Nine out of ten farmers thinks he knows more about his business than a desk farmer who farms scientifically and without practica knowledge. To farm scientifically would cost a small fortune for the equipment and all the formulas to control weeds and bugs. We believe the farmer would prefer to read about most everything except farming.

The editor had a caller Friday afternoon who was old, weak and emaciated. For fifty years he battled as a soldier of the Lord as a Missionary Baptist preacher and now in his old age is ill and lacks the proper nourishment for his body. His soul is his strength and it is strong, but the body must have the right sort of fuel to carry on. It was our pleasure to give him a little material help and if God will give us health and strength and work to do, we'll try and see that he is not forgotten. Here were two old men, one happy to give, the other embarrassed to receive, both hearts too full for utterance. Thank God for such hearts.

DAY BY DAY WITH GOVERNOR PATTERSON

We used to have a negro man working for us who surprised us as he came into the house one particularly beautiful morning, and said to my wife: "Miss Mary ain't this a gloryful day?"

Yesterday was another gloryful day, one that seemed like tonic sent to bless us, to rejuvenate our souls, banishing the cares and gloomy thoughts that oppress and weigh us down, causing us to forget the hardness and injustice we so often see in life, and turning our thoughts upward to the Creator in gratitude and praise. It's good for the soul to tune in on the voice of spring, to catch their meaning, and realize again the beautiful order of universal law, which controls the "master march" of the planets in the infinite space above, no less than the humblest plant that our feet carelessly press upon.

How difficult it is for the mind as it views the heavens and the earth with all their wonders and mysteries guided and directed as they are, not to acknowledge an overruling and beneficent power. The laws we make may be doubtful and confusing, the conventions we erect may not be all just, and operate in different ways but the laws of nature, the order of the universe, are unmistakable. They are for all and over all, and never for an instant does their divine equality and certainty fail.

Can this be only chance? Have we no better explanation? Is there no answer to the atheist's sneer? If we look and listen the answer comes from a thousand places and voices and there is not a single note of dissonance.

The stars give their answer, so does the earth we inhabit, and every form of life upon it. The trees proclaim a Divinity, and every flower that grows, and every bird that fills the air with melody.

Only man says there is no God, and his feeble protest is overwhelmed by all the proof around him and above him, and that of his inner consciousness and being.

There can be no plan without a planner.

I think spring this year is more than usually appreciated. The winter was gripping in its severity, and its icy fingers seemed loathe to let go their hold.

Plants, birds and beasts and man himself all suffered from the intense cold.

Several evergreens growing in my yard out in the country were killed, two or three others shed their leaves and stood stark and bare, and every rose bush was frozen down to the ground. Only now are these showing signs of life as the tender shoots are beginning to come from the roots.

The mortality among the birds last winter was unusually great. I had a feeding place for them where crumbs of bread were scattered and occasionally small pieces of meat, which they enjoyed in great numbers, particularly a peckerwood whose home was in the hollow of a tree nearby, that always became excited when feedding time came and manifested its pleasure by peculiar gutteral sounds which the other birds understood to mean that it intended to be first served. It would, after pecking around for awhile, invariably take the largest morsel in its bill and then fly up to its home, there to eat at its leisure. After watching this bird, which looked like a battered old warrior of great and varied experience, I was persuaded that if it had been a man, it would have had money to lend at heavy rates of discount. Never before this last winter, in spite of the fact that this care was given them, had I seen so many dead birds.

Several jays perished, whose dead forms were found reposing on the ground. I saw one mocking bird from whose musical throat not another note would come, and two gorgeously colored red birds that lay still on the snow covered earth. From these dead birds I observed, all not far from the house, there must have been more than had perished out in the woods and fields.

All this is now changed. Life abounds on every hand and it is once more joyous and vibrant. The birds seem not less numerous despite the silent tragedies of winter. If anything, they have appeared in greater numbers, hopping on the ground amid the dead leaves hunting for bugs, worms, their favorite diet, or flying and resting among the trees with sound of joy in their deliverance from hoary winter bursting in song from their happy hearts.

The earth has again thrilled at the sun's amorous warmth, the wild plums came out all draped in their white virginal purity, and now the dog woods are blossoming more beautiful even than the plums to relieve the somber woods from their dreariness.

Spring is always revealing. I have noticed plants springing up this year that I had not seen before, and those which have before been observed and located appear to be of a fresher and deeper green than ever. The cold and its snows have given them renewed vigor.

Wild violets are growing in great confusion in the half shaded spots and the earth in places is carpeted by those modest, chaste, inconspicuous, lovely little flowers that I only know by the general name of field daises, of different shades of blue from light to the deep color of the cloudless sky on a restful day in June.

From a distance there is a blaze of color, which takes more definite form as one approaches these bashful tender fairies who will not linger long. Yesterday morning the air was delicious with the breath of spring It reminded me of the rose lawn of youth—expectant, hopeful, untainted as yet by contact the world and vibrant with strength.

Spring is the growth of the year and as what is done well in youth will count for so much in the future, so what is done in the spring will count at harvest time with the fruits and vegetables and the other crops which minister to man and beast.

As a snake appeared in the Garden of Eden, before the first man and woman had sinned, so the warm sunshine brought the first reptile to mar the scenes of loveliness I have attempted to describe. I did not see it, being in the city at the time. The man on the place discovered it between an outhouse and the chicken yard and at once dispatched it with a hoe.

He said it was a black snake about three feet long with a yellow belly and I suppose from this description it was harmless and might have been useful, but with snakes it's human impulse is to kill them and then inquire into their characters and dispositions.

This feeling is so universal, except where snakes are venerated, that it would seem to be based on some good reason, but however this may be, there will be at least one less of the snake family this year. I try to think that the coloring of snakes is beautiful, but one always wants to admire them at a distance with a big stick convenient.

The great lesson of spring is the one she teaches of immortality. It is then we feel more the infinite longing, and believe we shall never wholly perish, as we see the bursting buds on the trees, observe the resurrection of plant and flower from the dark and silent earth, watch the birds making ready to nest, hear their notes on unalloyed joy and listen to the whispering winds.

Creeds may lose their hold, forms of religion may change, but nothing can ever disturb the deep and natural yearning for a future life, and the more extended ones vision becomes greater knowledge we acquire, the more we realize the shortness of life to make all the explorations and discoveries we wish, and the more do we feel the reason and necessity and justice for eternal existence.

It is impossible to reconcile what we are with all our strength and we can never fulfill, all our incompleted lessons we puzzle over in the brief period of our stay here upon earth, with the idea of annihilation. Surely a beneficent Creator has not so intended.

We are walking down an avenue that leads somewhere, and I believe it will usher us into immortality.

This seems the necessary solution of our lives, the only answer to the eternal question, "If a man die shall he live again?"—Commercial Appeal.

BASEBALL CLUB SPONSORS SHOW HERE

The Shankland Stock Company is playing this week in Sikeston, under the auspices of the Sikeston Ball Club, according to Tom Malone, who made the necessary arrangements with the show management Sunday afternoon.

Shankland's troupers have visited Sikeston for years, and are one of the most popular of stage and vaudeville tent shows to make our city annually. The big top was erected Sunday on the Matthews lots, corner of Gladys and Scott streets near the Frank Mount residence.

It is through the co-operation of Shankland that Malone hopes to raise enough funds to start the year's work and consequently those who attend the show this week will be assisting the club.

A meeting of importance to all ball fans in Sikeston has been called by Malone for Tuesday night, April 15, at the Hotel Marshall. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and will be concerned mostly with laying plans for the organization of a crack squad for the coming season.

THE RIVER

What is it that incessantly flows?
Though ages may come and ages go
Although the world while shadows overcast the sky,
Swift and sure as the sun on high?
The River.

Moody and silent as the blackest night
Steady and still like a bird in its flight.
Toward Heaven,
What is it that winds its way,
Down to join the silent bay?
The River.

What is it that so resembles life?
Following through peace and strife?
Its slippery banks,
Surrounded by rushes great and tall,
Like a prince's castle wall,
The River.

Dedicated to Grandma and Grandpa.

CITY WATER SUPPLY IS PURE SAYS CHEMIST

W. Scott Johnson, Chief Public Health Engineer of the Missouri State Board of Health, notified Sikeston city officials last week that tests of the city water supply here indicate a zero count of B. Coli per 100cc of water. The water in other words is entirely satisfactory and safe for human consumption.

The standard for safe drinking water is not to exceed two B. Coli per 100 cubic centimeters (about 1 cupful). B. Coli is a germ present in human and animal bowel discharges that that it is used as an index of contamination. Where it is found in considerable excess over the standard, the germs of typhoid, dysentery colitis, and diarrhoea may at any time be present in quantities sufficient to cause sickness.

The Sikeston water samples were drawn from ordinary faucets.

"KONJOLA WAS SUPREME IN MY STUBBORN CASE"

Exclaims Grateful Lady, Who Tells of Surprise New Medicine Gave Her.

MRS. GEORGE OTT

"Konjola worked wonders in my stubborn case", said Mrs. George Ott, 1942 Palm street, St. Louis. "All else I tried failed to give me even temporary relief. I had been suffering from a complication of ailments that included stomach trouble and catarrh. Sound sleep was denied me; I lacked energy and strength. Meals were merely a source of misery. I was sick all over, discouraged and without hope.

"After hearing so many good reports about Konjola, I decided to find out if this medicine I should have had in the first place, for it went to work quickly. Within a month my digestion was restored; eliminated the roaring and buzzing noises in my head. I have gained in weight to an astonishing extent. This Konjola has simply made another person of me and endorse it with all my heart and soul.

It is logical to believe that what Konjola has done for others it will do for you—for everyone. This is especially true if Konjola is given sufficient time to act. A treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended.

Konjola is sold in Sikeston at the Derris Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

BOND ELECTION MATTER MAY BE DECIDED BY SUPREME COURT SAYS ATTY. BAILEY

In a one-hour telephone conversation Monday afternoon with Attorney B. H. Charles of St. Louis, R. A. Bailey City Attorney, learned that the St. Louis firm would not approve the transcript until the Supreme Court of Missouri had passed on the legality of the election returns in the recent $150,000 municipal light plant bond issue election.

The only question involved, according to Attorney Charles, is whether or not the proposition has secured the necessary two-thirds majority.

As the situation now stands, Charles will not give his OK.

The matter is to be presented by Attorney Bailey at a special meeting of the City Council tonight (Monday) at which time it is expected that the Board will take action.

The suggestion of holding another election to solve the legal puzzle is out of the question, according to Charles. Granted that the proposition would carry, opponents of the idea would immediately file suit on the grounds that the second bond election exceeded the constitutional rights of limitation, since the first issue would not then be decided.

In other words, the second issue of bonds, if carried, would place the city in the position of having voted a possible $300,000 worth of bonds, whereas only $150,000 would be needed, wanted or possible under the present assessed valuation of the city.

Bailey is of the opinion that a friendly suit can be instituted to clear up the matter within three or four months. A mandamus suit would be filed with the State Auditor to compel him to register the bonds. He would refuse. Thus the stage would be set for a legal battle with council for the Utilities Companies and the Attorney General on one side, arrayed against Roger Bailey and B. H. Charles on the other. Charles was of the opinion that the Supreme Court would decided favorably for the issue.

POPLAR BLUFF MUNICIPA LIGHT PLANT PAYS ON WATER WORKS SYSTEM BONDS

The Board of Public Works this week placed $5250 in the newly formed Water Works Interest and Sinking Fund, this money to be used to pay off accrued interest on the $100,000 water works bonds, due August 1 1930, and February 1, 1931.

This is the first notation made on the newly created fund, which plan recently was approved by adoption of an ordinance by the City Council.

The Board of Public Works promised the taxpayers of Poplar Bluff, when the waterworks bond issue was presented for a vote, that so long as conditions remain as at present, and the light plant is earning sufficient money, no taxation will be required. Even with rates lowest of any town in this part of Missouri, the municipal light plant continues to earn sufficient money to virtually assure, for an indefinite period, earning enough money to pay off the waterworks bonds as fast as they become due.

The ordinance, drawn up by the Board of Public Works, provides money for payment of bonds and interest be placed in the new fund by May 1 each year, although the payments are not due until August 1. A penalty is provided in case the ordinance is violated, and the city council is given authority to draw such warrants from any fund at or under control of the Board of Public Works.

The members of that board feel that there will be no necessity for assessing special taxes at any time during the next 20 years, for payment of waterworks bonds. They have confidence in the earning power of the light plant and in support of the citizens, according to J. F Woody, member of the Board.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

The great Carlsbad Cave in New Mexico is computed to have been 60,000,000 years in the process of formation. The figure is arrived at by an examination of the stalactites and stalagmites. These mineral deposits are formed by the dripping of water impregnated with minerals. The rate or fall of these drops of water has been timed, and it has been calculated that it would require 100 years to form a cubic inch of the solid mineral material which they deposit. And among the stalagmites in Carlsbad Cave is one 62 feet high and 16 feet thick.

FOUNDER OF SIKESTON BURIED IN VAULT NEAR ORIGINAL CITY LIMITS

John Sikes I., founder of the original town of Sikeston, is at rest in a huge stone vault near the north limits of the old town of Winchester, later named Sikeston. The vault was opened recently by two Sikeston men who were curious to know in what manner the founder of the city had been buried. A large 300-pound slab was removed, revealing an inner stone-lined chamber at the bottom of which rested an old-fashioned casket. After peering through the glass topped "body-shaped" casket, the men replaced the stone.

They stated, so it is rumored, that the body is still in a fair state of preservation even though some 65 summers and winters have passed Mr. Sikes was of medium stature, and has a growth of slightly reddish whiskers.

The burial plot is located on property purchased by John A. Matthews, one street south of east Malone avenue.

Winchester was located, according to old timers here, near the present site of the Jim Klein homestead in the south part of Sikeston. With the coming of a railroad east and west, the town moved northward and the name was changed to Sikeston. The original road was then removed and the "Cat" line built, Cairo, Arkansas and Texas. This was subsequently changed to the Iron Mountain railroad, now in the hands of the Missouri Pacific Lines.

Mr. Sikes, Sr., is the father of the late Frank Sikes, and Need Sikes of San Antonio, Texas. He is the grandfather of Mrs. Katie Cook, who is one of Sikeston's highly respected citizens.

DENY IDENTIFYING KROGER STORE ROBBER

Bud Woodring, manager and W. O Marler, clerk at the Main street Kroger store, today emphatically denied that they had identified Lee Ross, 27, of Williamsville, as the man who on September 19, last, held up the local store and robbed it of $125.

They were quoted yesterday as having said they were positive the man held was the one who held up the store and escaped.

"I told nobody I could identify him" said Marler. "Mr. Woodring and I said he was a man about the same size of the robber, but further than that we had nothing to say about it. The police have brought in a number of suspects since the robbery, but we realize it would be difficult for us to identify the robber since it is probable that he has changed clothes, shaved himself and appears quite different than when he walked in with a gun in his hand, his cap pulled down over his face, and robbed the store".

Marler said he did not know what he was going to Dexter for when he was taken there a few days ago to look at the man under suspicion.

"Ross held out his hand to greet me when I walked into the store at Dexter", said Marler. "We had lunch together, and at no time did he act as though he might have held up the store".

Woodring was of the same opinion about Ross. "I did not identify him" said Woodring. "I do not say he is not the man, nor do I say he is. It is a fact, however, that I would not identify him as being the robber unless I was confident of the fact. There is too much chance of getting an innocent man into trouble".

Ross was released on bond pending hearing.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

On the moon the noon temperature is hotter than boiling water, and at night it freezes solidly in the deadliest cold imaginable, about 458 degrees below zero. This is because the moon does not retain heat, throwing the sun's rays back into space, like a mirror reflects light. These facts have been revealed by an instrument invented recently. It is so sensitive that it even measures the heat of moonlight when it reaches the earth, so small a fraction of a degree that it can hardly be imagined.

DEPARTMENT OF AG. WILL HELP FARMERS GET STARTED

Loans for seed and feed will be made by the United States Department of Agriculture to farmers whose crops were destroyed by storms or floods last year and who are unable to obtain credit from other sources County Agent Renner announced.

The conditons under which these loans will be made were discussed at a meeting in Dexter April 3, which was attended by the County Agents from southeast Missouri, District Agent C. C. Hearne of the Missouri Extension Service, and Director C W. Warburton of the United States Department of Agriculture, in charge of the loan fund.

Congress recently made an appropriation for these loans, naming fifteen States in which the funds will be available to farmers, Missouri being included among the number. Because of the generally good crop conditions in Southeast Missouri in 1929 and the fact that the winter floods caused little or no crop losses, nearly all farmers in Scott County have seed for planting and feed for workstock.

Information regarding the loans and a supply of application blanks and other forms are available in Mr. Renner's office at Benton, however for the use of any farmers who lost their crops last year and who are now unable to obtain credit from the usual commercial sources. Applications from Missouri farmers for loans, if any are made, will be acted upon at any office the Department of Agriculture has established in St. Louis. This office will also handle applications from farmers in Indiana and Illinois flood areas and from drought districts of Oklahoma.

The most productive soils on the farm should be selected for alfalfa It is useless to try to grow this crop on lands that are nonproductive, with the idea of building up the soils Where there is no good natural drainage, it must be supplied artificially before alfalfa can succeed. Tile drains placed 3 feet below the surface will ordinarily lower the water table enough. Alfalfa does not make a good stand on sour soils.

THREE GIRLS DEAD, BOY HURT WHEN CAR COLLIDES WITH SUNNYLAND. SUNDAY P. M

Three Dexter high school girls are dead and their companion, Leland Hill, also of that city, is injured, following a collision Sunday evening at 6 o'clock of their Chevrolet sedan with the crack Frisco passenger train. The accident happened about three and one-half miles north of Sikeston on the Tanner road, approximatedy 500 yards west of Highway 61.

The dead:
Louise Wyatt, 17
Glenda Wyatt, 15
Georgia Mae Howell, 17

According to Leland Hill, 18 years old, driver of the ill fated car, the young people had spent the day with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutcheson of Tanner. In the afternoon they drove to Sikeston, and were on their return trip when the acident happened. The exact time of the accident has been set at 5:58 p. m.

Hill was able to come to Sikeston after the collision, and returned to the scene after notifying H. J. Welsh to bring his ambulance. He was very nervous, but was not seriously injured. He stated to bystanders that the party had been "cutting up" and that none of the occupants saw the oncoming train until the engine had crossed the cattle bars at the Tanner road crossing. Then instead of hitting the brake, his foot slipped on the gas pedal. He believes that the auto struck the rear driver of the Sunnyland engine.

The bodies were brought to the Welsh undertaking parlor, where a coroner's jury, summoned late Sunday evening, viewed the remains. Coroner George Dempster summoned the following: Paul Rankin, George Lough, Clyde Myers, Sam Bowman Robert Mitchell and Marshall Cox. A verdict was not returned until Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Hill, Mr. and Mrs. George Howell, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wyatt, parents of the wrecked victims, arrived here about 7:30 Sunday evening, and suggested that the bodies be removed to their homes at once. C. O. Biggs, Dexter undertaker, took charge. Funeral arrangements could not be learned Monday morning.

The Wyatt girls were to have been graduated from high school this spring, according to friends who streamed into the Welsh place from 6:30 until late that night, and Miss Howell, it was learned, was the only daughter of her parents.

Hill was induced to go to the Emergency Hospital after he had arranged to have the girls brought to Sikeston. He was under the care of Dr. H. M. Kendig, Frisco physician, who stated that his condition was not serious.

Mr. Welsh estimated the crowd of morbidly curious and interested folks who visited the wrecked scene and the undertaking parlor at more than one thousand. They congregated in front of the place, crowded the rooms and finally had to be invited to leave by Sheriff Tom Scott to make room for relatives of the victims.

A Standard representative who visited the scene of the accident late Sunday night and interviewed negroes living nearby found Ed Washington and wife of the opinion that the car did not reach the crossing itself. The colored folks were sitting on their front porch and noticed the approaching car and train. Since their modest cottage is located on the West side of the track. the train hid the actual collision.

Frank Betton and Ernest Henton, also colored, were seated on their front porch, located some 300 feet southwest of the wreck scene and saw the affair. Both stated that the car was close to the crossing when last seen, and that the "train blew for the crossing". Jesse Hogans and another negro known as Gordon, arrived at the scene of the accident about three minutes after it happenend. Hill, they stated, was unconscious at the time, but he revived soon.

At one time 110 cars were crowded about the wreck scene late Sunday night. The twisted wreckage was piled against the south cattle guard fence, but bits of the car were hurled as much as 100 yards down the righ-of-way. The motor block had been torn loose by the impact and was found about 15 yards from the chassis. The radiator, a bit of twisted copper, was found 100 feet south of the wreck proper, against the east right-of-way fence. Only one tire was punctured and all four remained on their respective rims. By morning, souvenir seekers had carried off nearly all loose parts of the wreckage, leaving the stripped down chassis jammed against the fence.

The Welsh ambulance responded to a call and arrived at the scene a few minutes after it happened. Bodies of the three girls were found nearly nude about 35 or 40 feet south of the wreck having been hurled over the cattle guards. According to H. J. Welsh, undertaker, the bodies were not severely mutilated, but all were bruised. All three victims landed in a small triangular plot which was staked or marked for the benefit of a possible coroner's inquest.

It was decided Monday morning to defer the inquest until Thursday morning in view of the highly nervous condition of young Hill.

THE GUN WASN'T LOADED BUT TWO ARE INJURED

Vance Montgomery was showing his unloaded 'baby model" .25 caliber revolver to Fred Boyer and bystanders at the Boyer garage Sunday night about 9 o'clock. After due respects had been paid to the baby model, Montgomery jammed the gun into his right trousers pocket and accidently snapped the trigger. The bullet glanced upwards from the pavement and nicked Fred Boyer's leg.

After Fred had been taken care of, Vance being much concerned of course, blood was found oozing out of Montgomery's shoe. The bullet had penetrated his right foot an inch back of the second toe. Dr. Presnell treated the wounds.

A light shower fell in the Sikeston vicinity early Monday morning. Southeast Missouri needs a good rain at this time as it has been weeks since any rain has fallen. Some fields are rough and clods will have to have rain before fields can be put in order for planting.

Quite a lot of corn has been planted in this section and one field south of Commerce shows the corn up to a good stand. More plowing and planting in bottom lands than for many years. Prospects are that the largest acreage for years will be planted in this part of Southeast Missouri.

We hope the young folks who had our picture hung in the basement of the Methodist Church Friday evening during their carnival, enjoyed the occasion and the exhibit drew its share of the pennies. We also trust they observed the subject had a kindly eye and looked with understanding on them.

We understand some comments and criticism is going the rounds from the fact the bodies of the three young women who were killed at the crossing above the city Sunday evening, were gathered up and brought to an undertaker's room before they were viewed by the coroner. If this is true it is unfortunate and too bad. There was no doubt as to the cause of the deaths and to leave these bodies, almost nude, to the gaze of the morbid, and to flies and insects, is unthinkable. The sooner they were prepared for burial the better. To appreciate the situation, suppose it was your own daughters.

The fact that the editor carried a large patch on his right cheek was no sign that he got it when he turned the other cheek. A small boil is the cause.

Let your conscience be your guide as to whether you attend church on Sunday, go fishing, play golf, shoot craps or work your flower beds. It used to be that one was sure to go to hell if they did not attend church in the forenoon, read the Bible in the afternoon and sing church hymns, but in these days and times everything is done except the old fashioned way of practical observance of Sunday.

G. W. Chapman, an aged preacher, who has been ill since last October, was a visitor at The Standard office Friday afternoon. We were glad to have had the visit from him. His is one of the sad cases that come to many preachers and school teachers who have followed their calling until old age and illness have compelled them to retire. No preacher or teacher is ever able to lay aside anything for a rainy day and many of them are deprived of the necessities of life before God calls them. What a wonderful thing it would be if some of our multimillionaires like Henry Ford, who is accredited with making a net profit of over $80,000,000 last year, would endow an institution or a fund to pension these old folks who have done so much to enlighten the world. Wish God Almighty could soften their heart in this direction.

JIMMIE EDMONDSON IN CRITICAL CONDITION AFTER MOTORCYCLE CRACKUP SUN.

Friends here were notified Sunday evening that Jimmie Edmondson, 26, was in a critical condition in a Crystal City hospital, following a smash-up about 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning near a highway intersection near that place.

Virgil Harness personal friend of Edmondson had not been able to get much information regarding the accident. However, he stated that Edmondson and wife had gone to St. Louis Saturday morning to visit. Evidently they started their return journey early Sunday morning to avoid the usual heavy Sunday city traffic. Harness is of the opinion that the accident ocurred at the Frisco overpass, near which is located the intersection of the Festus-Crystal City road and Highway 61. Information available now states that young Edmondson smashed into an automobile.

Harness learned that his friend suffered a broken left leg, broken arm and hand, and that one eye was probably knocked out. Mrs. Edmondson escaped with severe body bruises and minor cuts.

Harness advanced the opinion that Edmondson was trying to break his (Harnesses') record of 2 hours and 54 minutes from St. Louis to Sikeston. The Harley-Davidson machine driven by Edmondson was rated with a top speed of 85 miles per hour, and the driver is credited with plenty of nerve to attempt a new record.

J. P. Gilbert, insurance salesman, stated to The Standard Monday morning that Edmondson had dropped an insurance policy covering an accident such as the one experienced Sunday morning last April 1. Edmondson refused to renew his policy, Gilbert stated.

2 SEMO BOYS WIN HONORS IN STUDENT ELECTION AT MISSOURI UNIVERSITY

James Finch of Cape Girardeau was elected president of the student body at Missouri University, Columbia, by a majority of 1050 votes in an election held last Friday. The vote stood 1852 for Finch and 802 for George Buchholz. The Junior Finch is the son of James A. Finch, well known Cape Girardeau attorney.

Dave Blanton of this city defeated Clyde Scott by a vote of 130 to 45 for the position of Councilman in the school of Business and Public Administration.

Finch and Blanton were two candidates to win their races by landslide majorities. Several other schools on the campus are more or less troubled over their elections. In the Journalism school, for instance, Jas. McAtee of Clayton and Ed McLaughlin of Joplin, are still wondering about the outcome of their race for the presidencey of the school. McLaughlin was first declared winner, 134 to 130, but a recount gave McAtee the honored position by two votes. A protest has been filed.

The vice-presidency of the same school was decided by one vote. Frances Corry was defeated 132 to 131 by Eloise Scherer of Kansas City.

COTTON PICKERS' ORCHESTRA COMING TO CAIRO APRIL 23 'J. S." STEAMER DE LUXE

The Famus Cotton Pickers Orchestra, under the direction of Fate Marable, the wizard of the ivories, will play the musical program in the Venetan Ball Room of the J. S. Steamer De Luxe on its Spring cruise north. This musical combination of artists play all of the latest dance music in the rhythm enjoyed by dancers and audiences as well, which has won for them the title "The South's Greatest Orchestra". They enjoy the reputation of having played ten consecutive Winters at New Orleans aboard Streckfus Steamers, five consecutive Summer engagements at St Louis, and six consecutive Cruises North and South on the Mississippi River from New Orleans to St. Paul, Minn. It was they who played that wonderful music aboard the J. S Steamer De Luxe last Fall when she made her initial cruise South, and now they are coming again aboard this steamer, whose gay-colored lanterns, flower baskets, canopied ceilings, fountain, gorgeous floor coverings, wicker furniture and steamer chairs, make you feel the strains of their sweet music more than ever The steamer has been chartered by the Cairo Elks Lodge No. 651 for a moonlight excursion, Wednesday April 23, and hope that everyone who possibly can will join them and enjoy the pleasures, (let us say luxuries) which this Steamer offers. Be at Cairo on Wednesday, April 23rd at 8:30 p. m. for a good time.

Elsewhere in The Standard is printed an article from the pen of former Governor Patterson of Tennessee, that is beautifully written and should be read and studied. We read it in the quiet of our home with the Indian Love Song from Rose Marie coming over the radio and with two of our small granddaughters playing about. We were entranced, happy and contented. When you read this article, you, too, will have a like feeling, and will wonder why some people get so little out of life. Thoughts dressed in beautiful words can find a lodging place in the heart of most men and women.

It will be but a few short weeks until our High School Graduates will go forth to conquer the world. Let us hope each and every one of them will climb the ladder of success and make useful citizens. The road will probably be rough at times and the ladder wobbly, it is then that the real metal will be tested. Boys and girls should look about and make note of those most successful in life and who stand high as men and women, and try to follow their footstep. The Standard wishes every one of them the best possible in life.

The last run of The Standard for the past several weeks has been unable to carry all the live news stories and advertising that has been in type, and as one or the other had to be left over, the reading matter was left. We are doing our very best to get all the advertising possible and give all the news possible.

Most ever man who, outwardly and figureatively, are outstanding citizens, would hate like sin to have his wife placed on the stand and under oath state just everything she knows about the other side of the worser half.

The warm days of April have caused us old timers a mess of worry. Our long ones are too warm and we haven't the price of the thin ones. Guess we can go without.

Most of us do things and give money according to the standard set by someone of our acquaintance When a paper is passed around among merchants for some public subscription, it is always looked over and the amount given by others is the index by which we all make our donation. If So and So gave five dollars, we feel that we will look cheap if we don't give that much or maybe a little more. We mow our yard when we notice that neighbors have, so that we won't suffer by contrast. We like to think ourselves independent, but most of us follow the lead of someone else.—Shelbina Democrat.

Chaffee is without a city attorney for the reason that neither of the candidates, W. L. Oliver nor E. M Munger, had been a citizen of that city for one year as required by their ordinances. Oliver received a majority of 48 over Munger in their city election.

The prohibition poll of fourteen of the leading colleges and universities of the country does not give much succor to the drys. In the poll the student bodies of Princeton, the old Presbyterian institution, and Harvard, one of the oldest and foremost educational institutions in the land were included. The vote showed 4,515 for strict enforcement, 11,006 for modification, and 5559 for repeal.

It goes without saying that the editor knows very littlle about the general sentiment on prohibition. However, we will say that the drys, like we Al Smith Democrats did in 1928, are trying to convince the public that the poll of the Literary Digest means nothing. The public has been fully informed that the present poll is being conducted on exactly the same plan as was the poll in 1928. Regardless of whether or not one voter may have received two or three ballots, his vote on the general proposition has been counted but once Several professional men claim to have received two or three ballots The first sent out was for the general referendum, and the only one counted in the results of the poll now being printed. The second and third ballots were sent out to poll professional and business men, and these results will be published later. There is no use to beat the devil around the stump, the country opposes the present prohibition law as now in effect. The people have never expressed their vews through an unbiased referendum, and anyone who claims the contrary is misinformed. The election of Hoover was considered a dry victory, yet some of the wettest soaks we know, and many bootleggers, cast their votes for him. We have noted Republican dry women voting the ticket straight when the few drys on their ticket were the exception, and Democratic drys falling for the hypocracy.—Jackson Cash Book.

FIFTY MILLION FOR U. S. HIGHWAYS

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, today apportioned among the 48 States and Hawaii the sum of $48,750,000 of the additional $50,000,000 authorized by Congress as Federal aid for highway construction in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1930. This supplementary appropriation for Federal-aid highways was authorized by the bill signed by President Hooer on April 4, which also authorized the appropriation of $125,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1932 and 1933.

The additional $50,000,000 brings the authorized appropriation for 1931 to $125,000,000. Congress provided $75,000000 by a previous act, and Secretary Hyde apportioned this among the States and Hawaii on December 2, 1929.

Missouri's original authorization of the $75,000,000 Federal Aid apportionment was $2,382,383. To this was added $1,588,255 in the present apportionment.

All apportionments of Federal funds for highways in the Federal-aid system are based on the area population and post road mileage of the States, and the share of each State is available for expenditure on roads included in the Federal-aid system under the joint supervision of the State Highway Departments and the Bureau of Public Roads of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Apportionment of the 1932 authorization will be made on or before January 1, 1931, and of the 1933 authorization on or before January 1, 1932.

THIS class-room picture shows the demonstration which proves definitely that New Iso-Vis does not "break down" in the automobile crankcase.

SEE THE BALL AND BOTTLE TEST at any Standard Oil Service Station. The more "body" an oil has, the slower the little ball falls in the tube. Notice the difference between used Iso-Vis and any other oil drained from the crankcase. Iso-Vis does not thin out in your motor.

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS we have been demonstrating New Iso-Vis Motor Oil in our laboratory lecture room to groups of engineers and others. One of the experiments made is this:

A quart of "used" Iso-Vis oil that has gone hundreds of miles in the crankcase of a car—is strained through a special filter.

In goes the used oil, black with road dust and crankcase dirt . . .

And then our audience generally gets to its feet in astonishment. For out of the filter comes a quart of oil that is exactly the same as if it had come from the refinery. Not just the same clear amber color but the same heavy body, the same oiliness, the same lubricating quality!

Before their eyes is the unmistakable, dramatic proof that New Iso-Vis Motor Oil does not "thin out" or break down. However, it must be changed at reasonable intervals to get rid of the dirt it accumulates in the crankcase.

Try New Iso-Vis today. You can get it at any Standard Oil dealer or service station.

New Polarine is also affected by our new refining processes—giving it an efficiency which is exceeded only by New Iso-Vis. The price is 25 cents a quart.

COMPARE the delivered price as well as the list price in considering automobile values. Chevrolet's prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing. Easy G. M. A. C. Terms.

There is one sure way to get greater value in a low-priced car today—choose a Six!

This greater value is instantly obvious when you drive a Chevrolet Six. You notice first of all its greater smoothness. There is no tremor in the steering wheel—no rattle in the floor boards—no drumming in the body.

In addition to the finer performance of its six-cylinder motor, the new Chevrolet gives you truly remarkable economy.

Its six-cylinder smoothness saves the entire car from the strain and wear of vibration. This, of course, lowers the cost of maintenance and assures a longer-lasting automobile.

From the standpoint of operating expense, Chevrolet is equally economical. No automobile uses less gasoline and oil. No car shows a lower expense for tires. And no car costs less for service.

Because of its modern engineering, Chevrolet also assures a high re-sale value—for its entire design is just as advanced as its six-cylinder engine.

Chevrolet gives you fully-enclosed, weather-proof, 4-wheel brakes. It gives you a modern fuel system—with the gasoline tank mounted in the rear outside the body. It gives you four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted lengthwise in the direction of car travel. It gives you beautiful Fisher bodies built of combination hardwood-and-steel. It gives you a full ball bearing steering mechanism, an adjustable driver's seat, a Fisher VV non-glare windshield, and tilting beam headlights, operated by a foot-controlled button.

Before you decide on any car in the low-price field, see and drive the Chevrolet Six. The more thoroughly you investigate, the more certain you are to conclude that it's wise to choose a Six—for value, for performance and for economical transportation!

TAME TURKEYS RELEASED IN WOODS SOON GET WILD

Many people have often wondered "Why is the wild cat wild?" These same people no doubt will wonder why a tame turkey goes wild. During the last few weeks a number of tame turkey hens have been released in various portions of Howell county by sportsmen who want to see the game preserved in this section. The tame turkey hens soon find mates among the wild gobblers in the woods and it won't be long until they are as wild as the wildest of turkeys. The young turkeys hatched from the eggs these hens lay in the woods have all the wildness of the wild birds flying from the roost when disturbed. This will do much to restock the wild turkey in this part of the State.—West Plains Gazette.

LASLEY SEEKS RELEASE FROM 10-YEAR TERM

Coy Lasley, former Frisco railroad brakeman of Chaffee, who is serving a 10-year term in State prison for complicity in the slaying of B. M Hargett, a non-union rail worker at Chaffee in 1927, has asked for a parole and his case will come up at Jefferson City next Monday.

Lasley pleaded guilty in circuit court at Jackson and was sentneced to serve 10 years from December 27, 1928. Previously he had been placed on trial, but the testimony was halted when Lasley collapsed and physicians said he could not proceed further. He entered a plea of guilty to a second degree charge.

Lasley was the second man to be sent to prison in the slaying of Harett. R. H. Stogsdill, former Frisco detective, is now in the penitentiary serving a 43-year term imposed by a jury which convicted him of the slaying. A third man, indcted in the murder, was George Fowler. He was released, after testifyng for the State against Stogsdill and Lasley.—Cape Missourian.

This one comes from West Africa: A minister announced that on the following Sunday he would preach on "Liars", and requested all his flock to read the 17th chapter of Mark in the meantime. The next Sunday he asked all who had read the chapter to raise their hands, and about half the congregation did so. "You are the ones I will preach to", he said. "There is no 17th chapter of Mark".

France is building one of the finest automobile roads in the world. The gigantic project, linking Paris with the Italian frontier, viea the Riveria, will be completed within four months. This fine highway will have additions of a new Cannes-Nice section and a section from Monte Carlo to the border. The 21-mile stretch between Cannes and Nice involves an outlay of 50,000,000 francs. Measuring 35 yards in width, the route will have space for six vehicles running abreast, a path of syclists, three sidewalks and a bridle path.

The highway department is anxious to let contracts for the new highway to run from Morley, Oran, Chaffee to No. 25 below Dutchtown, and found it necessary that some land be condemned. The Scott County Court is providing its share of the needed money and in order that that section of our county be provided with a good road an agreement was reached Saturday whereby the Cape road district will guarantee $1100, the county $1,500 and Byrd township $300 on a probable cost of $3100, as the Delta district has no funds. It may be considerable less. This township is willing to share in the cost because of the benefits aceruing from getting another straight route from the lower counties to the north and this traffic going through Jackson.—Jackson Post.

KEEPING FIT with NANCY CARROLL

By NANCY CARROLL
Paramount Star

I SUPPOSE a lot of women who are joining me in the Nancy Carroll Thirty Day Diet are wondering just what results to expect. If you are faithful in following the diet and the exercises you should lose four pounds the first week.

During the second week you should lose four pounds more. You see, after the first two weeks of the diet which have the most drastic cut in calories, I gradually build up the caloric content so that the weight reduction can come more normally.

The third week of the diet you should lose only three pounds, and the fourth week you should lose only two pounds. In all, if you follow it rigorously, and exercise every day, you will lose about thirteen pounds. Some of you may lose ten pounds and others fifteen pounds. This of course is a lot of weight, but the beauty of my diet is that if you want to repeat it in order to reduce even more, you can do so because it leaves you strong and well able to undertake it again. In the rapid reduction diets such as the Hollywood 18 Day Diet which some of my Hollywood friends followed, most of them were so tired and so "all-in" during and after the diet period that I really felt sorry for them. And no diet should be taken without a doctor's approval.

Many of you are surprised, I guess, at the fact that I include candy and sweets in my diet. I have a real, scientific reason for it. Candy is a quick energy builder. In a reducing regime which cuts down on calories and involves regular exercising, it is easy to become fatigued and listless unless the body is given some fuel to pep it up. I find that candy does this the best. It is a fuel food, and a little of it eaten daily takes away that gnawing emptiness and "all-gone" feeling.

For the rest of this first week, do Exercise One and add Exercise Two. Here it is:

First place your broomstick wand at the back of the neck, holding it in both hands, with arms extended. Bend forward from the waist with the head back, keeping the knees together. Then return to an upright position. The count is one, bend; two, upright. And work at it!

Next time I'll give you a really hard exercise that is awfully good for a fat "tummy."

KIDDIES WHOSE 12TH BIRTHDAY FALLS IN '30 TO GET FREE CAMERA

Rochester, N. Y., April 6.—"The world's biggest birthday party", celebrated by the gift of half a million cameras to children 12 years old, will commemorate next month the fiftieth anniversary of the first photographic patent awarded to George Eastman whose work did so much to transform amateur photography from a cumbersome process to the simplicity that marks it today.

The cameras, each accompanied by a roll of film, will be given away by the Eastman Kodak Company of which Eastman is chairman of the Board of Directors. Any child whose twelfth birthday falls in 1930 will be eligible to receive a camera by applying to local photographic dealers in company with a parent or guardian.

The distribution of cameras throughout the country will begin May 1 and continue until June 1, if the 500,000 cameras have not all been given away before the end of the month. A further number will be distributed to children in Canada.

The cameras are of the box type finished in a golden tan in recognition of the golden anniversary. Each bears a gilt medallion, with the inscription "Fiftieth Anniversary of kodad, 1880-1930". The cameras take pictures 2¼x3¼ inches in size.

Three villages in the Savoie Valley, near Lyons, France, were plunged into darkness when an eagle flew into the overhead electric cables which serve the district with power. Workmen spent a whole night trying to locate the cause of the breakdown and in the morning found the bird electrocuted just outside the village of Longefroy, which, with Tessens and Macot, had been without power.

CO. K YEARLY PAYROLL AMOUNTS TO NEARLY $13,000

Members of Company K are anxiously looking forward to the arrival of the quarterly payroll, which should be on hand for distribution at the regular drill period next Tuesday night. Although not generally know the yearly income of the members represents a tidy sum each year, enough, in fact to make a Guard Unit quite an asset to any town. The expenditures of the local company for the past year, including salaries and equipment for the Armory, has been quite a bit in excess of thirteen thousand dollars, according to figures compiled by Instructor E. T. Wheatley and Capt. Rufus Reed.

The inter-battalion and regimental small bore rifle competition will be started within the next week or two among the various companies in the regiment but will include competition betwen the three battalions. as well It is expected that much interest will be manifested in the competition this year as many of the companies who have heretofore ranked very low are expected to come through and liven things up for the companies who have carried off the honors in previous years.

The competition last year resulted in a victory for Company I of Doniphan in the 140th Infantry. This Company is commanded by Capt. H D. Sheppard and is in the Third Battalion, which is commanded by Maj. Harry E. Dudley of Sikeston.

The so-called Indian-head pennies have been in circulation so long and such enormous numbers of them have been coined that it is not probable that they will be worth more than their face value for a long time to come.

No British king or queen as such has ever visited the United States. King Edward VII, while Prince of Wales, visited this country in 1860. So far as we are able to learn he was the only British sovereign who ever saw the United States. Possibly however, the present king, Gorge V, touched at American ports while he was a midshipman in the North Atlantic squadron of the Britsh fleet. The present Prince of Wales has visited this country.

A great deal of interest has been manifested in a breed of wingless and clawless chickens which is being developed by a doctor of Omaha, Neb. This experimenter started several years ago with a hen which was regarded as a freak because of the diminutive size of her wings and the almost total absence of claws. From this bird the doctor had raised several generations, with the result that the wings and claws have almost disappeared. The advantages of this is that the birds do not fly over the fence and they do not dig up the garden in their search for food and at the same time they show a tendency to become better egg producers.

MADRID FARMERS HEAR FUQUA ON LIVESTOCK MARKETING

A group of New Madrid County farmers met April 3 at New Madrid for the purpose of discussing marketing of livestock. The meeting was called by County Agent Scott M. Julian, and the group was addresed by W. W. Fuqua, representing the Producers Livestock Shipping Association of St. Louis, and Robert Brown, President, Missouri Farm Bureau Federation.

Mr. Fuqua took up the question of marketing livestock, and after his address here, he went to a meeting at Parma, where he addressed a group of 100 farmers on the same subject.

Mr. Brown told of the work of the State Farm Bureau Federation and explained the rapid progress that they had made in the past few years together with the things that they have been accomplishing.

Snagging bait-stealing fish the minute they strike is the purpose of an automatic hook setter that may be attached to a pole or reel. The line runs through the hook setter and the least tug on the bait trips a trigger, causing a leever to fly back with sufficient pull to set the hook.

Medical science has prevented the population of French Equatorical Africa from being wiped out by sleeping sickness, it was asserted in an interview by Raphael Antonetti, governor general of the colony, who is now in Paris. Although the birth rate was satisfactory, he explained, the population continued to diminish through disease which caused more deaths than there were births. This went on until 1921 when the French officials recognized the peril and took energetic action against sleeping sickness and all tropical infections.

EASTER WITH THE MAJESTIC ENTERTAINERS

Easter, a day sacred to the hearts of the whole world, is the theme around which has been built the unique program that will be presented by the Majestic entertainers over the International Network of the Columbia broadcasting system on Easter Sunday, April 20th, from 9:00 to 10 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The orchestra score for the presentation has been prepared by Arnold Johnson, Musical Directors of the Majestic Orchestra, who conducts his famous ensemble of instrumental soloists as a feature attraction on all Majestic broadcasts. Mr. Johnson from his vast experience, has written a musical setting which will serve as background for the vocal selections of Redferne Hollinshead, exclusive Majestic Tenor, Grace La Mar, Contralto, and the Majestic Male Quartet.

Miss La Mar, Contraltor, who makes her third appearance on Majestic programs with this Easter presentation, will be heard in a group of songs. Miss La Mar possesses a voice of pleasing quality and her solos reflect the poise attained through years of study under the mastes vocal teachers of Europe.

Redferne Hollinshead, exclusive Majestic Tenor, will offer as his contribution to the program the tenor solo "The Light of Life" from Rhys-Herbert's oratorio "Bethany". In addition, he will sing one of the best

THE INSURANCE ORGANIZATIONS

HOME OWNER NEEDS INSURANCE SERVICE

The Owner Is Safeguarded Until Obligations Are Met

The home owner who is interested in modernizing his house will find a varied number of institutions waiting to aid him in solving his problems.

Not only the lumber companies, the plumbing shops, the interior decorators establishments and the electrical supply houses, but also the insurance organizations have a service they can render. Usually the insurance companies are not considered as being interested in the Home Modernizing Movement but nevertheless they have a definite place in the program.

Guard Against Fire

The increased value of the property due to the modernizing of the home makes an increase in the amount of insurance placed on the dwelling necessary. Insurance is protection and the wise owner is going to make certain that his investment is adequately covered against fire.

The thoughtful owner carries plenty of fire insurance not only on the building itself but also on the household goods within.

Life Insurance Important

Life insurance is another form of protection that is rarely considered when modernizing, yet it plays a very important part in financing the improvements.

Since the owner of the property when making a loan to cover the cost of modernizing assumes additional responsibilities, it is wise to make certain that the loan will be paid in event of his death. Life insurance may be secured which upon the death of the property owner will be applied on the outstanding loan.

Such a provision as this makes certain that the financnig of the property is assured. Although death may claim the owner, the property immediately becomes free and unencumbered by obligations.

Various types of policies are available and full details will always be carefully explained by local insurance agents who are experienced in writing policies of this sort.

Loan Features

Many insurance organizations are permitted by law to acquire real estate mortgages. In this way they enable the home owner to finance a loan on his property. They are in fact another source of money in addition to the banks or building and loan associations which are often called on for loans for improving real estate.

Color Invades The Kitchen

Nowadays the kitchen is becoming one of the most cheerful rooms of the house. Color has been introduced to liven the floors, the walls and the gas ranges.

Usually the kitchen was the somber, tired looking room of work. The living room, bedroom and dining room were all cheerfully decked out but the kitchen remained drab and uninteresting.

Now color has been introduced. Kitchen ranges are decorated in gay, vivid colors. Reds and green form the basis of color schemes that are carried through the room. The walls may be tinted in harmony and linoleum chosen to meet the motif.

Linoleum is fast becoming the favorite floor covering for the kitchen. It is sanitary, being armed with a dirt resisting lacquer which prevents dust and grease from taking permanent lodging. It can be easily cleaned and tiresome scrubbing is eliminated through its use.

Then, too, it is colorful, being made in a wide variety of patterns that enable the tasteful housewife to plan a decorative design for the kitchen that will meet the most artistic eye.

Steel Medicine Cabinets Are Most Sanitary

Medicine cabinets of steel are often preferred in the bathroom because of their advantages from the standpoint of sanitation.

They can be easily and quickly cleaned should any of the contents of bottles spill on the shelves.

The steel frame of the door makes a solid support for the mirror which may be of beveled plate glass.

Usually these steel cabinets are finished in white enamel as white is the universal color for bathroom trim.

Milk is splendid to mix with the mash when wet-mash feeding is preferred.

Window And Door Screens Of Copper Are Rust Pr

When remodeling the house it will often be necessary to make or purchase new screens to guard against flies, mosquitoes and other flying insects.

Many home-owners insist that these screens shall be made of copper or bronze with either wood or steel frames.

Copper and bronze screens are rust-proof. They are long-lived and will last many seasons without attention. This is a distinct advantage as the repair bills on screens few and far between.

Ordinary wire screens rust quickly shatter. Each spring have to be replaced and often fall holes develop here nad the er the surface. Copper screen tirely eliminate this trouble.

When choosing screens make tain that the mesh is fine enou prevent entrance of insects ju such texture that it will not hold dust.

d houses like these are a drain on the pocket book of the owner. They stand neglected and deserted, an expense and loss. After this house was remodeled it was again photographed and is shown above.

vic pride should spur each of us to try and make our home and our yard as attractive as that of our neighbor. Paint and flowers should not be overlooked.

HOME MODERNIZED THEN QUICKLY RENTED

Those old houses that stand idle month after month are losing money for someone. The old house in the lower illustration was just such a case. Not only was it a drain on the owner's pocketbook, but also an eyesore in the neighborhood.

Old property like this is hard to rent. No one wants to move into a decayed looking dwelling no matter how sound the timbers or well constructed the frame. So the old places go begging or are rented at figures that represent losses rather than profits.

Now Make Profits

But in this case the owner was wise. He recognized his handicap, invested a little money in reconstruction and had a modern up-to-date dwelling as the result—a profit-maker and a credit to his acumen.

The old porch which ran around two sides was torn away when the improvements were started. It was ugly, dilapidated and a dust catcher. Instead, a small stoop was built for the entrance from the street, a shingle covered shelter protecting the entrance from occasional storms.

A Sun Room Added

A charming sun room now occupies the place once devoted to the porch. The roof lines over this section have been changed to the advantage of the structure.

Many of the window openings have been enlarged and a pair of sash inserted in these openings. The upper sash of each pair are made with small lights, a style popular at present among builders.

The old tin roof which covered the house was removed and vari-colored asbestos shingles used to protect the occupants from storms and fire. Asbestos shingles are meeting with favor among many builders because of their durability, attractive coloring and fire preventative qualities.

The mansard roof affects have been eliminated at each end of the roof by forming gables. Small ventilators with horizontal louvres in these gables thoroughly air the attic.

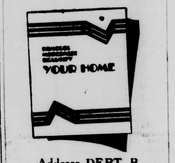

Few Interior Changes

In general the rooms within the structure remain as originally designed. The sun parlor was added, taking the place of one end of the sprawling porch. A friendly fireplace now adds a cheerful note of hospitality to the large living room.

An oblong kitchen is considered preferable to a square one for saving space and consequently for saving steps. On the two long opposite sides most of the larger equipment can be grouped in logical working sequence. To test for waste space in a floor plan see whether the equipment can be packed into a smaller well-lighted area in the same relative positions, leaving room enough to work comfortably.

The value of good pasture for hogs cannot be overestimated. Rye, oats wheat, rape, soybeans, and cowpeas all are good temporary pastures Sweet clover and, in the South, Dallas grass also are satisfactory. Rape may be sown with oats in the spring. Cowpeas and soybeans make a good mixture. Seeding for temporary pastures should be heavier than for a grain crop. Many successful hog growers put a limited number of hogs on permanent pastures, and let the grass make sufficient growth to produce a crop of hay. Undoubtedly alfalfa is the best permanent pasture grass for hogs, and in localities where this crop is successful no other permanent pasture is necessary.

The editor cast a little bread upon the water Friday afternoon and when he reached home, he found that it had returned at least ten fold. A friend had sent to us, express prepaid, a box containing a wonderful assortment of good things to eat consisting of canned fruits and vegetables, tea and coffee, cocoa, olives and mushrooms. Our heart is full of thanks for this splendid gift and we couldn't help but say to the family that the little bit that we gave to a worthy friend had come back ten fold and within a few hours. The impulse to give and to receive comes from On High for which we are thankful.

There are still a lot of people, including nearly all the preachers, who refer to that London gathering as the peace conference. To begin with it has not been very peaceable. Worse still, it has created a beligerent feeling among the citizens of rival nations. To end with, its sole purpose has been to make war cheaper, not to enter into peace pacts. There probably will be an agreement to cut down on war ship construction whereupon the building of air fleets and poison gas machines will go to limits heretofore undreamed of. The World Court and League of Nations offer open roads to the peaceful settlement of international disputes Because Woodrow Wilson was their father the party in power refuses to join them, so the next best thing is to keep on recognizing war as a permanent institution and seek ways for waging it at bargain counter rates.—Paris Appeal.

The Standard proposes to cut out a lot of the farm dope sent to us from Washington, from Columbia and from every other farm bug who has a message for the farmer. The reason is: Nine out of ten farmers thinks he knows more about his business than a desk farmer who farms scientifically and without practica knowledge. To farm scientifically would cost a small fortune for the equipment and all the formulas to control weeds and bugs. We believe the farmer would prefer to read about most everything except farming.

The editor had a caller Friday afternoon who was old, weak and emaciated. For fifty years he battled as a soldier of the Lord as a Missionary Baptist preacher and now in his old age is ill and lacks the proper nourishment for his body. His soul is his strength and it is strong, but the body must have the right sort of fuel to carry on. It was our pleasure to give him a little material help and if God will give us health and strength and work to do, we'll try and see that he is not forgotten. Here were two old men, one happy to give, the other embarrassed to receive, both hearts too full for utterance. Thank God for such hearts.

DAY BY DAY WITH GOVERNOR PATTERSON

We used to have a negro man working for us who surprised us as he came into the house one particularly beautiful morning, and said to my wife: "Miss Mary ain't this a gloryful day?"

Yesterday was another gloryful day, one that seemed like tonic sent to bless us, to rejuvenate our souls, banishing the cares and gloomy thoughts that oppress and weigh us down, causing us to forget the hardness and injustice we so often see in life, and turning our thoughts upward to the Creator in gratitude and praise. It's good for the soul to tune in on the voice of spring, to catch their meaning, and realize again the beautiful order of universal law, which controls the "master march" of the planets in the infinite space above, no less than the humblest plant that our feet carelessly press upon.

How difficult it is for the mind as it views the heavens and the earth with all their wonders and mysteries guided and directed as they are, not to acknowledge an overruling and beneficent power. The laws we make may be doubtful and confusing, the conventions we erect may not be all just, and operate in different ways but the laws of nature, the order of the universe, are unmistakable. They are for all and over all, and never for an instant does their divine equality and certainty fail.

Can this be only chance? Have we no better explanation? Is there no answer to the atheist's sneer? If we look and listen the answer comes from a thousand places and voices and there is not a single note of dissonance.

The stars give their answer, so does the earth we inhabit, and every form of life upon it. The trees proclaim a Divinity, and every flower that grows, and every bird that fills the air with melody.

Only man says there is no God, and his feeble protest is overwhelmed by all the proof around him and above him, and that of his inner consciousness and being.

There can be no plan without a planner.

I think spring this year is more than usually appreciated. The winter was gripping in its severity, and its icy fingers seemed loathe to let go their hold.

Plants, birds and beasts and man himself all suffered from the intense cold.

Several evergreens growing in my yard out in the country were killed, two or three others shed their leaves and stood stark and bare, and every rose bush was frozen down to the ground. Only now are these showing signs of life as the tender shoots are beginning to come from the roots.

The mortality among the birds last winter was unusually great. I had a feeding place for them where crumbs of bread were scattered and occasionally small pieces of meat, which they enjoyed in great numbers, particularly a peckerwood whose home was in the hollow of a tree nearby, that always became excited when feedding time came and manifested its pleasure by peculiar gutteral sounds which the other birds understood to mean that it intended to be first served. It would, after pecking around for awhile, invariably take the largest morsel in its bill and then fly up to its home, there to eat at its leisure. After watching this bird, which looked like a battered old warrior of great and varied experience, I was persuaded that if it had been a man, it would have had money to lend at heavy rates of discount. Never before this last winter, in spite of the fact that this care was given them, had I seen so many dead birds.

Several jays perished, whose dead forms were found reposing on the ground. I saw one mocking bird from whose musical throat not another note would come, and two gorgeously colored red birds that lay still on the snow covered earth. From these dead birds I observed, all not far from the house, there must have been more than had perished out in the woods and fields.

All this is now changed. Life abounds on every hand and it is once more joyous and vibrant. The birds seem not less numerous despite the silent tragedies of winter. If anything, they have appeared in greater numbers, hopping on the ground amid the dead leaves hunting for bugs, worms, their favorite diet, or flying and resting among the trees with sound of joy in their deliverance from hoary winter bursting in song from their happy hearts.

The earth has again thrilled at the sun's amorous warmth, the wild plums came out all draped in their white virginal purity, and now the dog woods are blossoming more beautiful even than the plums to relieve the somber woods from their dreariness.

Spring is always revealing. I have noticed plants springing up this year that I had not seen before, and those which have before been observed and located appear to be of a fresher and deeper green than ever. The cold and its snows have given them renewed vigor.

Wild violets are growing in great confusion in the half shaded spots and the earth in places is carpeted by those modest, chaste, inconspicuous, lovely little flowers that I only know by the general name of field daises, of different shades of blue from light to the deep color of the cloudless sky on a restful day in June.

From a distance there is a blaze of color, which takes more definite form as one approaches these bashful tender fairies who will not linger long. Yesterday morning the air was delicious with the breath of spring It reminded me of the rose lawn of youth—expectant, hopeful, untainted as yet by contact the world and vibrant with strength.

Spring is the growth of the year and as what is done well in youth will count for so much in the future, so what is done in the spring will count at harvest time with the fruits and vegetables and the other crops which minister to man and beast.

As a snake appeared in the Garden of Eden, before the first man and woman had sinned, so the warm sunshine brought the first reptile to mar the scenes of loveliness I have attempted to describe. I did not see it, being in the city at the time. The man on the place discovered it between an outhouse and the chicken yard and at once dispatched it with a hoe.

He said it was a black snake about three feet long with a yellow belly and I suppose from this description it was harmless and might have been useful, but with snakes it's human impulse is to kill them and then inquire into their characters and dispositions.

This feeling is so universal, except where snakes are venerated, that it would seem to be based on some good reason, but however this may be, there will be at least one less of the snake family this year. I try to think that the coloring of snakes is beautiful, but one always wants to admire them at a distance with a big stick convenient.

The great lesson of spring is the one she teaches of immortality. It is then we feel more the infinite longing, and believe we shall never wholly perish, as we see the bursting buds on the trees, observe the resurrection of plant and flower from the dark and silent earth, watch the birds making ready to nest, hear their notes on unalloyed joy and listen to the whispering winds.

Creeds may lose their hold, forms of religion may change, but nothing can ever disturb the deep and natural yearning for a future life, and the more extended ones vision becomes greater knowledge we acquire, the more we realize the shortness of life to make all the explorations and discoveries we wish, and the more do we feel the reason and necessity and justice for eternal existence.

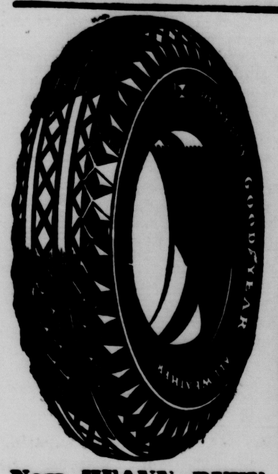

It is impossible to reconcile what we are with all our strength and we can never fulfill, all our incompleted lessons we puzzle over in the brief period of our stay here upon earth, with the idea of annihilation. Surely a beneficent Creator has not so intended.

We are walking down an avenue that leads somewhere, and I believe it will usher us into immortality.

This seems the necessary solution of our lives, the only answer to the eternal question, "If a man die shall he live again?"—Commercial Appeal.

BASEBALL CLUB SPONSORS SHOW HERE

The Shankland Stock Company is playing this week in Sikeston, under the auspices of the Sikeston Ball Club, according to Tom Malone, who made the necessary arrangements with the show management Sunday afternoon.

Shankland's troupers have visited Sikeston for years, and are one of the most popular of stage and vaudeville tent shows to make our city annually. The big top was erected Sunday on the Matthews lots, corner of Gladys and Scott streets near the Frank Mount residence.

It is through the co-operation of Shankland that Malone hopes to raise enough funds to start the year's work and consequently those who attend the show this week will be assisting the club.

A meeting of importance to all ball fans in Sikeston has been called by Malone for Tuesday night, April 15, at the Hotel Marshall. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and will be concerned mostly with laying plans for the organization of a crack squad for the coming season.

THE RIVER

What is it that incessantly flows?
Though ages may come and ages go
Although the world while shadows overcast the sky,
Swift and sure as the sun on high?
The River.

Moody and silent as the blackest night
Steady and still like a bird in its flight.
Toward Heaven,
What is it that winds its way,
Down to join the silent bay?
The River.

What is it that so resembles life?
Following through peace and strife?
Its slippery banks,
Surrounded by rushes great and tall,
Like a prince's castle wall,
The River.

Dedicated to Grandma and Grandpa.

CITY WATER SUPPLY IS PURE SAYS CHEMIST

W. Scott Johnson, Chief Public Health Engineer of the Missouri State Board of Health, notified Sikeston city officials last week that tests of the city water supply here indicate a zero count of B. Coli per 100cc of water. The water in other words is entirely satisfactory and safe for human consumption.

The standard for safe drinking water is not to exceed two B. Coli per 100 cubic centimeters (about 1 cupful). B. Coli is a germ present in human and animal bowel discharges, that that it is used as an index of contamination. Where it is found in considerable excess over the standard, the germs of typhoid, dysentery colitis, and diarrhoea may at any time be present in quantities sufficient to cause sickness.

The Sikeston water samples were drawn from ordinary faucets.

"KONJOLA WAS SUPREME IN MY STUBBORN CASE"

Exclaims Grateful Lady, Who Tells of Surprise New Medicine Gave Her.

MRS. GEORGE OTT

"Konjola worked wonders in my stubborn case", said Mrs. George Ott, 1942 Palm street, St. Louis. "All else I tried failed to give me even temporary relief. I had been suffering from a complication of ailments that included stomach trouble and catarrh. Sound sleep was denied me; I lacked energy and strength. Meals were merely a source of misery. I was sick all over, discouraged and without hope.

"After hearing so many good reports about Konjola, I decided to find out if this medicine I should have had in the first place, for it went to work quickly. Within a month my digestion was restored; eliminated the roaring and buzzing noises in my head. I have gained in weight to an astonishing extent. This Konjola has simply made another person of me and endorse it with all my heart and soul.

It is logical to believe that what Konjola has done for others it will do for you—for everyone. This is especially true if Konjola is given sufficient time to act. A treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended.

Konjola is sold in Sikeston at the Derris Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

BOND ELECTION MATTER MAY BE DECIDED BY SUPREME COURT SAYS ATTY. BAILEY

In a one-hour telephone conversation Monday afternoon with Attorney B. H. Charles of St. Louis, R. A. Bailey City Attorney, learned that the St. Louis firm would not approve the transcript until the Supreme Court of Missouri had passed on the legality of the election returns in the recent $150,000 municipal light plant bond issue election.

The only question involved, according to Attorney Charles, is whether or not the proposition has secured the necessary two-thirds majority.

As the situation now stands, Charles will not give his OK.

The matter is to be presented by Attorney Bailey at a special meeting of the City Council tonight (Monday) at which time it is expected that the Board will take action.

The suggestion of holding another election to solve the legal puzzle is out of the question, according to Charles. Granted that the proposition would carry, opponents of the idea would immediately file suit on the grounds that the second bond election exceeded the constitutional rights of limitation, since the first issue would not then be decided.

In other words, the second issue of bonds, if carried, would place the city in the position of having voted a possible $300,000 worth of bonds, whereas only $150,000 would be needed, wanted or possible under the present assessed valuation of the city.

Bailey is of the opinion that a friendly suit can be instituted to clear up the matter within three or four months. A mandamus suit would be filed with the State Auditor to compel him to register the bonds. He would refuse. Thus the stage would be set for a legal battle with council for the Utilities Companies and the Attorney General on one side, arrayed against Roger Bailey and B. H. Charles on the other. Charles was of the opinion that the Supreme Court would decided favorably for the issue.

POPLAR BLUFF MUNICIPA LIGHT PLANT PAYS ON WATER WORKS SYSTEM BONDS

The Board of Public Works this week placed $5250 in the newly formed Water Works Interest and Sinking Fund, this money to be used to pay off accrued interest on the $100,000 water works bonds, due August 1, 1930, and February 1, 1931.

This is the first notation made on the newly created fund, which plan recently was approved by adoption of an ordinance by the City Council.

The Board of Public Works promised the taxpayers of Poplar Bluff, when the waterworks bond issue was presented for a vote, that so long as conditions remain as at present, and the light plant is earning sufficient money, no taxation will be required. Even with rates lowest of any town in this part of Missouri, the municipal light plant continues to earn sufficient money to virtually assure, for an indefinite period, earning enough money to pay off the waterworks bonds as fast as they become due.

The ordinance, drawn up by the Board of Public Works, provides money for payment of bonds and interest be placed in the new fund by May 1 each year, although the payments are not due until August 1. A penalty is provided in case the ordinance is violated, and the city council is given authority to draw such warrants from any fund at or under control of the Board of Public Works.

The members of that board feel that there will be no necessity for assessing special taxes at any time during the next 20 years, for payment of waterworks bonds. They have confidence in the earning power of the light plant and in support of the citizens, according to J. F Woody, member of the Board.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

The great Carlsbad Cave in New Mexico is computed to have been 60,000,000 years in the process of formation. The figure is arrived at by an examination of the stalactites and stalagmites. These mineral deposits are formed by the dripping of water impregnated with minerals. The rate or fall of these drops of water has been timed, and it has been calculated that it would require 100 years to form a cubic inch of the solid mineral material which they deposit. And among the stalagmites in Carlsbad Cave is one 62 feet high and 16 feet thick.

FOUNDER OF SIKESTON BURIED IN VAULT NEAR ORIGINAL CITY LIMITS

John Sikes I., founder of the original town of Sikeston, is at rest in a huge stone vault near the north limits of the old town of Winchester, later named Sikeston. The vault was opened recently by two Sikeston men who were curious to know in what manner the founder of the city had been buried. A large 300-pound slab was removed, revealing an inner stone-lined chamber at the bottom of which rested an old-fashioned casket. After peering through the glass topped "body-shaped" casket, the men replaced the stone.

They stated, so it is rumored, that the body is still in a fair state of preservation even though some 65 summers and winters have passed Mr. Sikes was of medium stature, and has a growth of slightly reddish whiskers.

The burial plot is located on property purchased by John A. Matthews, one street south of east Malone avenue.

Winchester was located, according to old timers here, near the present site of the Jim Klein homestead in the south part of Sikeston. With the coming of a railroad east and west, the town moved northward and the name was changed to Sikeston. The original road was then removed and the "Cat" line built, Cairo, Arkansas and Texas. This was subsequently changed to the Iron Mountain railroad, now in the hands of the Missouri Pacific Lines.

Mr. Sikes, Sr., is the father of the late Frank Sikes, and Need Sikes of San Antonio, Texas. He is the grandfather of Mrs. Katie Cook, who is one of Sikeston's highly respected citizens.

THE "DYNAMITERS' " STRANGE LANGUAGE

"Dynamiters" are high-pressure fly-by-night stock salesmen.

They have a strange language all their own. Here are a few samples:

"Lily"—A new name for a sucker

"Mooch"—A particularly easy sucker who buys without any investigation.

"Boiler-room"—A room filled with telephones where the "dynamiters" phone the "lilies".

"Bird-dog"—An advance agent for the "dynamiters" who prepare the "lily for plucking".

"Squawk"—One who complains to the authorities or the Better Business Bureau.

Reputable security dealers, assisted by the 46 Better Business Bureaus in the United States, are fighting a continuous battle with the "dynamiters" for your protection.

Help them protect you by remembering to investigate before you invest.

DENY IDENTIFYING KROGER STORE ROBBER

Bud Woodring, manager and W. O Marler, clerk at the Main street Kroger store, today emphatically denied that they had identified Lee Ross, 27, of Williamsville, as the man who on September 19, last, held up the local store and robbed it of $125.

They were quoted yesterday as having said they were positive the man held was the one who held up the store and escaped.

"I told nobody I could identify him" said Marler. "Mr. Woodring and I said he was a man about the same size of the robber, but further than that we had nothing to say about it. The police have brought in a number of suspects since the robbery, but we realize it would be difficult for us to identify the robber since it is probable that he has changed clothes, shaved himself and appears quite different than when he walked in with a gun in his hand, his cap pulled down over his face, and robbed the store".

Marler said he did not know what he was going to Dexter for when he was taken there a few days ago to look at the man under suspicion.

"Ross held out his hand to greet me when I walked into the store at Dexter", said Marler. "We had lunch together, and at no time did he act as though he might have held up the store".

Woodring was of the same opinion about Ross. "I did not identify him" said Woodring. "I do not say he is not the man, nor do I say he is. It is a fact, however, that I would not identify him as being the robber unless I was confident of the fact. There is too much chance of getting an innocent man into trouble".

Ross was released on bond pending hearing.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

On the moon the noon temperature is hotter than boiling water, and at night it freezes solidly in the deadliest cold imaginable, about 458 degrees below zero. This is because the moon does not retain heat, throwing the sun's rays back into space, like a mirror reflects light. These facts have been revealed by an instrument invented recently. It is so sensitive that it even measures the heat of moonlight when it reaches the earth, so small a fraction of a degree that it can hardly be imagined.

DEPARTMENT OF AG. WILL HELP FARMERS GET STARTED

Loans for seed and feed will be made by the United States Department of Agriculture to farmers whose crops were destroyed by storms or floods last year and who are unable to obtain credit from other sources County Agent Renner announced.

The conditons under which these loans will be made were discussed at a meeting in Dexter April 3, which was attended by the County Agents from southeast Missouri, District Agent C. C. Hearne of the Missouri Extension Service, and Director C W. Warburton of the United States Department of Agriculture, in charge of the loan fund.

Congress recently made an appropriation for these loans, naming fifteen States in which the funds will be available to farmers, Missouri being included among the number. Because of the generally good crop conditions in Southeast Missouri in 1929 and the fact that the winter floods caused little or no crop losses, nearly all farmers in Scott County have seed for planting and feed for workstock.

Information regarding the loans and a supply of application blanks and other forms are available in Mr. Renner's office at Benton, however for the use of any farmers who lost their crops last year and who are now unable to obtain credit from the usual commercial sources. Applications from Missouri farmers for loans, if any are made, will be acted upon at any office the Department of Agriculture has established in St. Louis. This office will also handle applications from farmers in Indiana and Illinois flood areas and from drought districts of Oklahoma.

The most productive soils on the farm should be selected for alfalfa It is useless to try to grow this crop on lands that are nonproductive, with the idea of building up the soils Where there is no good natural drainage, it must be supplied artificially before alfalfa can succeed. Tile drains placed 3 feet below the surface will ordinarily lower the water table enough. Alfalfa does not make a good stand on sour soils.
